

A-Victoria 75 Flu Danger Greatest, Sabin Believes

CINCINNATI (AP) — Virologist Dr. Albert Sabin, credited with the development of the live oral polio vaccine, said he has asked President Ford to delay a massive nationwide Swine flu inoculation program to concentrate on what Sabin feels is a more immediate danger—a flu strain called A-Victoria 75.

Sabin, in a weekend telephone interview from Aspen, Colo., said he has drafted a letter to Ford asking for a delay until medical science determines the Swine flu threat is real and that the flu is present.

Sabin contends that Swine flu has not appeared in Australia or other southern hemisphere countries where it is now midwinter, but that A-Victoria 75 has. Sabin thinks that should be the medical concern in the United States right now.

Sabin said thousands have died from a A-Victoria 75, in what he called the worst epidemic since the Hong Kong flu during 1958 and 1959.

"The big epidemics occurring now in Australia and other countries of the southern hemisphere are coming from this new virus," he said.

He said he favors inoculating high risk patients as soon as possible with a combination of vaccines for both Swine flu and A-Victoria 75. The vaccine for A-Victoria 75 has only recently become available, Sabin said.

African Violence Cools On Weekend

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Half a mile inside Guguletu township, blacks were playing tennis in spotless whites beneath a cloudless sky, a gentle breeze wafting in from the sea not far away. There was a feeling of spring in the air after a hard winter.

A little farther on, the burned-out wreckage of a delivery truck was slewed across the road. The road in front of a row of gutted shops was carpeted an inch deep with broken glass, from beer and liquor bottles, apparently. Scores of vehicles littered the streets, overturned, wrecked and burned out.

This was the scene Sunday throughout Guguletu and the other two black townships outside Cape Town, Nyanga and Langa, in which 29 blacks were killed and more than 100 injured during the rioting last week in protest against the white-minority government's racial policies.

The police were keeping a low profile, but their trucks were parked at the entrance to the townships, ready to move if trouble broke out again.

Tornadoes Hit Central Plains Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tornadoes riled up portions of extreme northeastern Colorado and the Nebraska panhandle overnight. The twisters were spawned from a small area of intense thunderstorms centered over western Nebraska.

Two tornadoes touched down Sunday night at Haxton, Colo., damaging several farm buildings and a few airplanes. Another twister was spotted 35 miles northwest of Akron, Colo.

In Nebraska, tornadoes were reported near Venango, Whitney and Chadron. There were no reports of injuries from any of the twisters.

Other thunderstorms were positioned along the Atlantic coast, the southeastern states and the lower Mississippi valley this morning. A few of the storms along the New England coast were heavy, and power outages were reported through much of Rhode Island. A few rainshowers persisted in the northern Rockies and Oregon.

Temperatures were unseasonably cool through the northern portions of both Wisconsin and Michigan, with several readings in the low 40s. There was a possibility of scattered light frost through portions of the area.

Skies were generally clear over the southwestern states, the southern half of the plains, the upper Mississippi valley and the Great Lakes region. Partly cloudy to cloudy skies were found elsewhere.

Overnight temperatures around the nation ranged from 41 at Marquette and Sault Ste. Marie, Minn., to 84 at Phoenix, Ariz.

Coal Miners Return To Work

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Virtually all miners returned to work today, ending a month-long wildcat coal strike that paralyzed the Eastern coalfields.

Pickets kept at least one Consolidation Coal Co. mine closed in southern West Virginia, however. A company official said it was an isolated case and all its other mines were operating.

Industry officials said they expected conditions to be completely normal by midweek.

Sabin, who is spending a month at the Aspen Institute for Humanistic Study, said massive inoculation program for Swine flu alone should be delayed until "such time as there is evidence that Swine flu has reappeared somewhere in the world or the United States.

"The probability that this will happen now is much lower than it was in 1976," Sabin said virologists consider the upcoming winter as the 1977 flu season.

Sabin is not opposed to the manufacturing of the vaccine or the legislation approved by Congress last week to hold the federal government—not those dispensing the vaccine—accountable for any possible legal claims.

However, Sabin said he believes that proceeding with the program now is premature and involves too many uncertainties.

Sabin said his own research into the Swine flu virus makes him unsure the flu is really as dangerous as the general public has been led to believe.

"I think the main point is not to use the vaccine now. Moreover, we don't have a vaccine for children that will not prevent a high rate of high fevers and other symptoms of illness," Sabin said.

"I think with all of these considerations, the vaccine should be stockpiled."

Whites were admitted to the black ghettos only if they had special passes from the government.

Dozens of shops and administrative offices were roofless and blackened. Schools were damaged.

None of the barrack-like rows of homes in Guguletu appeared damaged. Dozens of churches were untouched. At noon their bells tolled slowly as blacks throughout the county observed a minute of silence in mourning for the 215 blacks slain in township riots since mid-June.

A call for a National Commemoration Day was made by Nkxolisi Mvovo, vice president of the Black People's Convention and one of about 50 black leaders arrested last week in a nationwide security roundup.

The Cape Town townships appear to be returning to normal slowly. But the grievances that sparked the violence remain — the pass laws requiring blacks to carry identification documents at all times, the migrant labor system and restrictions on employment and advancement, the lack of equal educational facilities and, in Cape Town, the preferential treatment in the labor market for persons of mixed race, known as coloreds.

GOP Convention Opens

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — President Ford and Ronald Reagan are personally pursuing the last, scattered handful of uncommitted delegates while Republicans open their most divided national convention in a generation.

When Mary Louise Smith, Republican national chairman, calls the party's 31st National Convention to order today it will signal the opening of the final phase of the long, sometimes bitter struggle between an incumbent president never tested in a national election and his brash opponent whose challenge defied conventional political wisdom.

And many of the Republicans gathered here for the showdown fear the outcome will leave the party too divided to withstand the Democratic challenge in the fall campaign.

Few in Kansas City expected the Republicans to duplicate the show of unity and party harmony the Democrats staged last month in New York when they nominated Jimmy Carter for president.

Throughout the preconvention week, strategists for Ford and Reagan probed and tested and sought signs of softness in the delegate totals each was claiming.

Both sides claimed to have more than the 1,130 delegate votes needed for the nomination.

The Associated Press delegate count, based on legal commitments and publicly stated preferences, gave Ford 1,117 and Reagan 1,036, with 105 uncommitted and a single delegate saying he will vote for Sen. James L. Buckley of New York.

The prospect that Buckley, a conservative Republican, might enter the race was the latest imponderable in the tightest GOP nomination race since Dwight Eisenhower and Robert Taft battled in 1952.

Before the balloting begins Wednesday night for the presidential nomination, the candidates will test their delegate strength in several floor fights.

The first significant test should occur Tuesday night when Reagan's backers plan to fight for adoption of a rule that would require each presidential candidate to name his choice for a running mate by Wednesday morning.

Reagan already has said his choice is Sen. Richard S. Schweiker of Pennsylvania.

The vice presidential rule was rejected Sunday by the convention rules committee, but Reagan and his managers said they expected to lose there. The real test, they insist, will come on the convention floor.

John Sears, Reagan's campaign manager, has said repeatedly he believes the former California governor's strength on matters like the proposed rules change is greater than the number of delegates attributed to him in most surveys of intended votes on the first nominating ballot.

Reagan and Ford hit town Sunday and held campaign rallies at about the same hour but miles apart in the convention city.

"I know we are going to win," said Ford.

"Do I think I can still win on the first ballot?" Reagan said to reporters after his arrival. "Yes."

On the eve of the convention, Ford's delegate total increased by seven, Reagan's by three.

But the biggest remaining bloc of uncommitted delegates, the 30-vote Mississippi contingent, continued to resist pressure from both camps to declare its intentions. The Mississippians caucused Sunday night but made no move to abandon their uncommitted status.

Nine adults and two juveniles have been arrested and will be arraigned before Wednesday's Grand Jury on charges stemming from a crackdown on area drug dealers.

Three people remain at large. Law officers have a list of pending actions which indicate that further investigations will be conducted.

The grand jury arraignments are the third phase in a multi-faceted plan devised by Pickaway County Prosecutor Richard L. Gerhardt, Sheriff Dwight Radcliff, and Circleville Police Sgt. Larry Pontious.

The two-year investigation culminated Friday when the suspects were picked-up on secret indictments sought by Gerhardt.

Those arrested are:

John Rooker Jr., Circleville, two counts of sale of marijuana;

Walter Hastings, Williamsport, sale of marijuana;

Charles R. Wolfe, Circleville, sale of marijuana; sale of narcotics;

Charles Wolfe, Circleville, sale of narcotics;

Tony Sayre, Commercial Point, sale of marijuana;

Sherman Ross, Commercial Point, sale of marijuana; trafficking in marijuana;

Paul Tatman, Circleville, two counts sale of narcotics;

Terry Lambert, Commercial Point, sale of marijuana;

Michael McDonald, Circleville, sale of marijuana; trafficking in marijuana.

In addition, two juveniles from the Commercial Point area have been charged with the sale of marijuana.

Warrants have been issued for an Ashville area woman who has been charged with the sale of narcotics; a Circleville transient who has been charged with trafficking of marijuana; and an Ashville man who is charged with dispensing of dangerous drugs without a license.

Common Pleas Court Judge William Ammer ordered all persons detained on $2,000 for each count and would not consider bond until the majority were in custody.

Estrogen, Cancer Link Possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 12-year study of women who have taken estrogen pills has concluded that the hormone does not prevent breast cancer in menopausal women and may even cause the disease.

The results of the study "do not by themselves" prove a cause and effect relationship between the drug and cancer, but they do suggest "a definite possibility."

The study was done by the Harvard School of Public Health, the National Cancer Institute and the University of Louisville (Ky.) School of Medicine.

A report on its results is to be published by the New England Journal of Medicine on Thursday, but the Washington Post obtained a copy and published the findings in its Monday editions.

The report is based on followups of 1,891 women for an average of 12 years after they began taking estrogen.

American doctors have been prescribing estrogen for about 5 to 6 million middle-aged women to ease the pains of menopause. About 10 million younger women take estrogen in the form of birth-control pills.

Breast cancer will be detected in 89,000 American women and will cause 33,000 others to die this year, the American Cancer Society estimates.

The study turned up no reliable correlation between the length of time estrogen was used and the risk of breast cancer.

Christian Forces Attack In Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Christian forces opened a new campaign today to drive the Palestinians from the Meten area of the mountains overlooking Beirut.

"Unless the Palestinians pull out of the Meten area immediately, we will have to evict them by force," said a leader of the right-wing Phalange party, which has the largest militia on the Christian side of the Lebanese civil war.

Reports from the warring sides said the Palestinians shelled Christian positions with missiles and anti-aircraft guns during the night, and that Christian militiamen backed by tanks and halftracks assaulted Palestinian positions at the mountain village of Aintoura.

Fighting also continued in Beirut's devastated commercial sector and the neighboring Chiyah and Ein Rummaneh suburbs, the former Moslem, the latter Christian. Hospital and security sources reported that about 90 persons were killed and 135 wounded during the night.

The small towns and villages scattered along the mountains were mostly summer resorts for wealthy Lebanese before the civil war, and the area was traditionally Christian. The Palestinians and their leftist Lebanese Moslem allies moved into them during their offensive last spring, which brought the Syrian army into the war to save the Christians from defeat.

Phalangist leaders told the commander of the Arab League peace force, Maj. Gen. Mohammed Hassan Gheneim, that they consider Meten part of their territory in the de facto partition of Lebanon that is taking shape.

A Palestinian source commented: "It's a card. It is valuable to us only because they want it and we can use it to get what we want."

Other Palestinian sources said their forces would not give up their positions unless they got concessions in return, such as a Syrian withdrawal from eastern Lebanon.

The independent newspaper An Nahar reported agreement in principle between Al Fatah, the biggest of the Palestinian organizations, and the Phalange to station Arab League peace forces along a buffer line in Meten. But other sources said Phalange military commander Pierre Gemayel rejected a Palestinian proposal for a cease-fire and withdrawal of forces all along the front line of the civil war.

The Christians turned their attention to the mountain area after their capture Thursday of the Tal Zaatar Palestinian refugee camp on the southeast side of Beirut. The conquest of the camp, in which an estimated 3,000 persons died, removed the last Palestinian stronghold between Christian East Beirut and the 800-square-mile Christian hinterland north of the capital.

custody on 10 per cent bond. The others are still in jail.
"Two years ago, we were going over the amount of drug cases in the county and decided to make a concentrated effort to round up the pushers rather than continue to make sporadic arrests," Prosecutor Gerhardt said.
The first phase began with the infiltration into the county of special agents from London's Bureau of Criminal Investigation and Identification, who apparently made some initial progress. However, local officials felt their efforts were not satisfactory.
The first break came late last year and allowed officials to "get to the fringe" of the drug traffic in the county.
"Quickly, Gerhardt, Sheriff Radcliff, and Sgt. Pontious worked in secret sessions to devise a plan that would effectively attack the problem."
The Police Department worked with an undercover law enforcement officer, while Sheriff Radcliff assigned a regular deputy to "go undercover."
Both men worked independently, but their actions were coordinated by the local officials. The deputy, who started work in the county, eventually generated to the Circleville area. And the city man usually ended in the county.
Both men spent about $1,500 in purchasing the drugs, money which came from the Furthman of Justice Fund and the Police Chief's Expense Account.
Besides marijuana, an hallucinogen, they discovered codeine, phenylephrine, and methaqualine. Evidence of "hard drugs" such as heroin and cocaine could not be verified during the three-month probe.
However, the officers were promised crystal, THC, heroin, and cocaine by dealers, who delivered salt and aspirin compounds instead.
All the drugs were tested at the BCI laboratory in London.
The investigation surfaced at this time, they said, because of the large number of arrests and the street rumors of the undercover officers. The officers were threatened many times, they said.
On orders of the local officials, the undercover officers overlooked, for the time, about 40 people who will later be arrested for possession.
"We did not want to blow our case against the dealers," Gerhardt said.
The next phase will be further action against persons who sold only minor quantities of drugs to the agents. The officials believe these people are more heavily involved in drugs selling than the evidence showed.
That includes at least four juveniles and two adults in the city and a number of residents in the county.

Hinkle, executive committee; James Price, executive committee; Asa Robinson, chaplain; Danny Bohn, second vice commander, department of Ohio; Robert Hoffman, Seventh District commander and Richard Blaney, Post 134 commander.

Newly elected officer of American Legion Post 134 of Circleville were installed Saturday evening at the Post Home following a dinner prepared by members of the Ladies Auxiliary, who also served as hostesses during the social hour.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America was led by Ronnie Easter, emcee, and the invocation was by Asa Robinson, chaplain.

Easter introduced the honored guests: Mr. and Mrs. Edlon (Danny) Bohn of Bexley Legion Post 432, and vice commander for the Department of Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoffman of Portsmouth Post 23, commander of the 7th district, installing officer; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Durbin, first vice commander of the 7th District from Waverly Post 142; Norma Frazier of Portsmouth, auxiliary president of the 7th District; Delno Olaker, 2nd vice president of the 7th District of Chillicothe, and Roger Smith, past commander of the Department of Ohio. Also introduced was Celia Hoffman, president of Post 134 Ladies Auxiliary.

Awards were presented by Blaney to Allen Strous for Americanism and Government from the 7th District and the State and to Sheriff Dwight Radcliff, in appreciation for his work in apprehending those who had broken into the Post Home, and for general protection throughout the county.

Dudley Radcliff, the out-going commander, was introduced and spoke briefly of the Post and its accomplishments. He said the color guard from Post 134 won first place at the 1976 convention and introduced members of the team. The float entered by the 7th District won first place. Radcliff received a bicentennial plaque from Robert Hoffman, District commander.

Guest speaker, Eldon O. (Danny) Bohn, was introduced by Blaney. He spoke of how the American Legion promoted ideals of the country and participated so well in the celebration of the bicentennial. He said the phrase of God and Country as it appears in the Preamble, repeated at each meeting, emphasized the fact that God comes first with Legion members. He wished continued success to all Legionnaires who number 133,000 in Ohio, and to the Ladies Auxiliary.

Voter Registration Plan Hits Roadblock

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leaders appear to have given up attempts to pass a postcard registration bill that had been urged by the party's presidential candidate, Jimmy Carter.

Postcard voter registration and another controversial bill, calling for the breakup of major oil companies, are missing from a Senate legislative agenda for the rest of the year.

The program listed by the Senate Democratic leadership includes more than a score of major bills to be acted upon after Congress returns Aug. 23 from its recess for the Republican convention. It also shows the order in which they are to be considered, right up to Oct. 2, the target date for adjournment of the present Congress.

A notice sent to all senators by the Democratic whip, Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, said the schedule is tentative and adds that other measures may be taken up if time permits.

However, failure to include the oil divestiture bill and a House-passed measure to permit voter registration by postcard may be a tipoff the leadership regards them as too controversial to handle in the remaining days of the session.

The oil divestiture bill barely squeezed through the Senate Judiciary Committee by an 8 to 7 vote June 15 and is considered virtually certain to run into an opposition filibuster if brought up in the Senate.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-

Mont., has said that "it would be extremely difficult, if not impossible," to break a filibuster.

Mansfield has declined to commit himself on whether the bill will be called up, although Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and other sponsors are pressing for action.

The postcard voter registration bill became entangled in a jurisdictional dispute between two Senate committees after it was amended and rushed through the House just before the Republican convention recess. Still to be decided is whether it should be referred to the Rules Committee or the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service.

While supporters say the bill is necessary to make registration easier and increase voter turnout, opponents call it an election-year dirty trick that would open the way for widespread voter fraud.

Deaths

MR. VERLE E. BRYANT

The funeral service for Mr. Verle E. Bryant, 59, of Route 1, Clarksburg, who died 12:25 p.m. Saturday in Fayette Memorial Hospital, Washington C.H., was held 1:30 p.m. Monday at Kirkpatrick Funeral Home in New Holland with the Rev. Victor Slutz officiating. Burial was in New Holland Cemetery.

Born May 14, 1917 near New Holland, he was the son of Frank and Laura Jester Bryant.

He was engaged in farming. Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Malcolm (Pauline) Haggard, New Holland; one son, Sgt. Eugene Bryant, stationed with the U.S. Air Force in Tampa, Fla.; two granddaughters; two brothers, Ralph Bryant, Frankfort and Howard Bryant, Washington C.H.; two sisters, Mrs. Anna Steiner and Miss Kathryn Bryant, Dayton.

Hirohito Notes War Surrender

TOKYO (AP) — "My heart still pains when I think of those who perished in the war," Emperor Hirohito said at a prayer ceremony marking the 31st anniversary of the end of World War II.

"On this occasion I pray for world peace and prosperity ... to console them," he said.

About 1,000 political and business leaders and 5,000 relatives of war dead attended the nationally televised memorial Sunday at Tokyo's Martial Arts Hall and stood for a moment of silent prayer at an altar banked with yellow and white chrysanthemums. Hirohito, now 75, announced Japan's acceptance of the Potsdam Declaration ending hostilities on Aug. 15, 1945.

Very possibly the funniest motion picture of the decade.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — New signs of a slowing in the economic recovery pushed stock prices into a moderate decline today.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks slipped a fraction in the early going, and losers took a 4-3 lead over gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

After the close on Friday, the government reported that industrial production increased by only a modest .2 per cent in June.

Earlier in the day, government figures showed business inventories in June taking their biggest jump in 18 months.

Trading was fairly light on the decline. Brokers were looking for a quiet market at least until the Republicans settle on a presidential candidate later in the week.

Today's early prices included Xerox, up 1/4 at 65 1/2; Merrill Lynch, down 1/4 at 24 1/4, and Beatrice Foods, ahead 1/2 at 27.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average rose 3.07 to 990.19.

Prices paid to farmers by Pickaway Grain were:

Ear Corn	2.73
Shelled Corn	2.78
Wheat	2.82
Oats	1.70
Beans	6.10

Hog prices, net were paid by Producers Livestock Assn. today as follows:

50 cents higher $44.00 - $44.50, 200-230 lbs.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cattle 1500 Receipts increased nearly 200 head over early estimate. Compared to last Monday, slaughter steers steady. Slaughter heifers 50 cents lower. Slaughter cows steady with last week's close. Slaughter bulls steady. Trading slow. Demand fair. Supply 45 per cent slaughter steers, 20 per cent heifers. Steers: choice and prime, 2-4, 975-1150, $36-38; 30, choice, 2-4, 875-1200, $35-38; good and choice, 2-4, 865-1200, $33-35; good, 2-3, 900-1300, $32-33.

Heifers: choice and prime, 2-4, 850-1000, $35-35.50; small lot, $35.75; choice, 2-4, 800-950, $34-35; good, 2-3, 750-975, $31-33. Cows: utility, 1-2, $24-26.25; cutter, $21-24. Bulls: 1-2, 1150-1300, $31-34. Vealer: few choice and prime, 225-265, $40-45.

System Works

For years many persons connected professionally with law enforcement have noted the high rate of recidivism among prisoners in the nation's prison systems. What kind of "rehabilitative" system is it, they ask, when a large percentage of released criminals earn themselves another trip behind bars?

In a situation as frustrating as this one, it is useful to look for the isolated example of success. National statistics tell the glum story, but are there courts, states or individual prisons where the recidivism rate is consistently and dramatically lower than the average? If there are, it is time to take a good look at what they are doing differently.

One example is the Winona (Minn.) County Court of Judge Dennis A. Challeen. Since 1972, Judge Challeen has been permitting adults convicted of misdemeanors to sentence themselves. That's right, the guilty decide what their punishment should be.

Some of the individual examples are startling. A young man convicted of theft agreed to work for the company he robbed. Today he is one of the firm's partners. Another youth who stole lumber from a farmer sentenced himself to painting one of the farmer's buildings. The farmer liked the work so well he hired the youth to paint three more buildings and the two became friends.

So much for the isolated examples. What is the recidivism rate among the people convicted and voluntarily participating in the court's self-sentencing program? After four years and more than 30 individuals a month entering the program, only two per cent have been repeaters. That's a target for any court to try to emulate.

Thin Man's Dreams

By JIM BISHOP

The weakness in the word "diet" is that it connotes a temporary situation. It is something we go on; something we go off. Medical science would prefer to have all of us who are plump restructure our eating habits for the rest of our lives.

There are more than 30 million bathroom scales in the U.S. The fatties walk around them. They are part of the decoration, like the bathmat.

I am convinced that most of us who are overweight were sabotaged by mother in infancy. Women equated a chubby baby with good health. They fed us fattening foods and we were hooked.

Big John was fat. He was 5 feet-11 and weighed 254. He was in his mid-60s when he reported to his friend, Dr. Bernard Krull of Teaneck, N.J., for a semi-annual examination.

Krull was tired of suggesting a diet. He gave my father a foolscap pad and a pen. "I have some laboratory work to do," he said. "While I'm away, I want you to mark down the names of all your friends who are over 60, overweight, and healthy."

"Sure, doc." My father ran through the file of friends. Most of the heavyweights, men and women, were dead. He could think of two names. One was a diabetic and one had sustained two heart attacks.

That day, he altered his eating habits. In one year, he was down to 154 pounds. He looked old and felt great. He was 85 and skinny when he died of a cardiac arrhythmia.

Gene Krull and I used to go on high protein diets. We enjoyed watching each other suffer. Both of us were about the same size — 5 feet, 7½ inches — and the same weight, 184. When we reached 165, we went off the diet with a fanfare, like drunks who swear off booze during Lent.

This time I was determined to change my eating habits forever. I cut out all bread, all spaghetti, all potatoes, all gravy. That was it. In an agonizingly slow fashion, my weight dropped from 184 to 159. The 25-pound knapsack is gone. This morning I weighed 161, the result of a homemade, deep-dish blueberry pie. Kelly doesn't like it. I ate all of it.

Kelly, who is 5 feet, 7 inches, will not permit her weight to vary more than three pounds either side of 138. Her weakness is a hot fudge sundae with mountains of whipped cream.

Jackie Gleason used to go on crash diets. He had three complete wardrobes — one for 180 pounds, one for 230, one for 270. As he pointed out, the one in the middle took an awful beating because it caught him on the way up and on the way down.

The fattest person of all time was

Robert E. Hughes of Monticello, Illinois. At birth he weighed 11 and one-quarter pounds. At the age of six he weighed 203. At 13, he was 546. At 18, Hughes got on a truck scale and tipped it at 693, and by 25 he was up to 896.

At the age of 32, Mr. Hughes weighed 1,041 pounds. Walking to the bathroom he cracked both of his insteps. He died that year and they buried him in something that looked like a box for a concert piano. His heart covered over half the distance of his 124-inch chest.

Now that I am thin, I dream of famous restaurants and their specialties. I can smell the big cubes of beef and whole potatoes in a Toots Shor beef stew. At Casa Paco, in Madrid, they serve a shiny black steak which has been broiled in pure olive oil.

The Empress Hotel in Hong Kong boasts the best standing ribs you ever saw. No autocratic emperor ever dined more sumptuously than at the Casa Santino in Miami. It's a three-hour event.

The Ashoka Hotel in New Delhi is a feast for eyes and palate. There are hundreds of white tablecloths and scores of orange-turbaned waiters carrying trays on the tips of their fingers as Hindu orchestra plays "Anitra's Dance."

The visions come and go — mostly come. I am a fiend for dessert. I have known some which can destroy a man in one sitting. The laurel must go to Jimmy Di Nicola, whose eatery at the Beach Club serves a soup bowl full of soft vanilla ice cream, topped with fruits and whipped cream.

All of this is instant destruction. I phoned Dr. Lester Keiser and asked if there is any harm in dreaming about beautiful, fattening food. "It all depends," he said. "Weigh yourself after each dream."

Dear Editor:

As one who knows, I would like to express my opinion of PICCA and what a great job it does. My sister had to be confined. A girl from PICCA came to care for her, she was treated the best and cared for when she was in her home.

When you call there you are treated like a human being, not just like you were someone no one cared about. These girls are to be given a lot of credit for the kindness they show to someone who may be old, disabled or crippled. I hope they can stay for a long time.

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the nearly 2000 4-H members who participated in the Pickaway County Fair and the Extension Service, I would like to extend a special thanks to those who were responsible for its success.

First of all, the 317 advisors who worked with the youth in their local clubs and at the fair are very special people to the youth of the county. Without their help the 117 clubs in the county could not even exist.

The F.F.A. advisors, Steve Bower, Ray Noecker, and Neil Lehnart, were a special help this year. Cooperation and coordination between the F.F.A. and 4-H has grown over the years and their services were invaluable.

The Senior Fair Board, especially with financial and material support, were also a big help this year. They are responsible for an addition on the sheep barn, new dressing rooms for home economics, exhaust fans in the show arena, materials for hog gates and tie-outs for beef animals, and a new scales for sheep and hogs. A special thanks for their time and dedication should go to Dale Schiff, Carl Martin, Wendell Hott, Bob Collins and Karl Braskett.

We would like to give you a special thanks for the coverage of the junior fair in the paper this year. Many times we read of only the bad things that happen to youth. With your excellent coverage of the outstanding youth in the junior fair this year, people have been given much pleasure and more understanding of the program provided.

Also, a thank you to WNRE, for their usual fine coverage of the fair results.

Thanks to all, again. I hope I have not left out anyone, but I'm sure I have, because if anything is a community effort in Pickaway County, it is the Pickaway County Fair.

Sincerely,

VAN WERT, Ohio (AP)—The president of the American Farm Bureau Federation spoke in Ohio last week, sounding a familiar theme: too much government intervention in agriculture.

The government has to create a marketing climate that does not put roadblocks between farmers and a good farming future, according to Allen Grant.

Grant considers a federal grain reserve proposal called "Storehouse of Food," to be presented next year by corn belt Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., among those roadblocks.

Reserves are "the heart of most farm programs, built around a 'cheap food' policy," Grant said.

"Grain reserves disrupt and depress the farmers' market and create the illusion that food is cheap by transferring part of the cost to taxpayers," he said.

Grant sees only political motives behind the establishment of grain reserves.

"All of us that are in business, whether its agriculture or any other business, are overregulated at the present time," Grant said. He added, "It seems to me that when we have to have the Occupational Safety and Health Act telling us that manure is slippery if you step on it on a cow barn floor, we're just going a little too far with regulation," Grant said.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is emphysema always caused by smoking cigarettes? If not, why is so much pressure being put on us smokers to deprive us of one of the few pleasures left in life? A friend of mine had emphysema and the doctors insist it was because of his smoking.

Mr. T.H., Calif.

Dear Mr. H.:

No, tobacco is not the only cause of emphysema. Buy it undoubtedly is the most important cause of the serious lung condition.

Asthma, chronic bronchitis, dust, molds and chronic irritation by chemical fumes are some of the other possible causes of emphysema.

The fact that there are other causes should not mislead you into believing that tobacco is not the culprit that it is.

Emphysema is a physical condition in which the tiny air sacs in the lung lose their elasticity. The result is that air, with its vital oxygen, is trapped in these sacs and cannot easily be emptied during inhaling and exhaling.

As part of an educational program, I took a group of adults into a hospital and allowed them to see the desperate end results in emphysematous patients who were far too young to be dying of this disease.

I must add that it is indeed sad that you have not found the myriad joys and pleasures in living removed from the single "pleasure" of overindulgence in tobacco.

Why do adults have to be bothered by so-called protective medicine bottles? If they are meant to save children from getting into them, why must we be bothered with them?

Mr. S.K., N.J.

Dear Mr. K.:

Child-resistant medicine bottles have been responsible for reducing fatalities in children, especially those who are tempted by good-tasting "candy medicines." Safety caps have also been responsible for the saving of some adult lives. Many people who are "half-asleep" when they seek out a medicine in the cabinet find that they may have swallowed a drug that they were not looking for.

The safety cap is sufficiently difficult to remove so that it takes complete attention to do it. Thus one is awakened to the exact medicine that he should be taking.

When an adult learns how to remove a safety cap, it becomes very simple. For children it is virtually impossible. If a single life is saved, it will certainly compensate for your temporary annoyance.

Harsha Reports

BY WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
Sixth District Of Ohio

The impact of higher natural gas prices on gas users who must live on fixed incomes seems to be the last consideration of the Federal Power Commission — if indeed it is considered at all.

Faced with stiff opposition in Congress to deregulation of natural gas prices, the Federal Power Commission recently did something of an end run around the legislative process and permitted natural gas producers to hike their prices.

The increase would nearly triple the price of natural gas brought into production since the start of last year. It is estimated that the bonanza for gas producers could result in consumers' paying an additional $1.5 billion in the first year.

The FPC action was immediately challenged in court, and temporarily stayed by a two-judge appeals court panel. However, another panel of three federal judges this week ruled that the enormous increase could be put into effect immediately, so long as the EPC insures that gas producers refund any portions of the new rates subsequently held to be unlawful.

The matter is far from settled since the courts cannot decide on the merits of the FPC price increase until all administrative appeals are exhausted. If an appeal is made, as is almost certain, the Commission will have until Sept. 27 to decide on rehearing the case.

As things now stand, the natural gas industry is still one up on the beleaguered consumer.

Before the FPC approved its biggest natural gas price increase ever, producers were allowed to charge about 52 cents per thousand cubic feet of gas sold in interstate commerce.

That refers to gas sold in a state different from the one in which it is found, as is the case with Ohio.

Under the new FPC ruling, however, producers may charge up to $1.42 for gas produced since the end of 1974. Additionally, the Commission doubled the allowable charge for gas produced between Jan. 1, 1973, and the end of 1974.

The FPC claims that these exorbitant increases are needed to stimulate production of new natural gas sources. According to the Commission the prosperous natural gas industry must be "encouraged" with this bounty to go out and look for more gas.

By its action, however, the FPC is allowing an increase in the price of a substantial amount of gas that has already been discovered and is already being produced.

Not only will that do nothing to stimulate discovery, it will serve to hit the consumer squarely in the pocketbook.

An indirect but significant impact of the price rise is a corresponding rise in the price of goods and services that depend on natural gas for the production process.

The meaning of the Federal Power Commission's arbitrary action is simple enough. Despite an intense and well financed lobbying effort — and with EPC backing — the natural gas industry has thus far failed to get its deregulation plum from Congress. Therefore, it is getting what it can from a predictably generous Federal Power Commission.

With a history of understating reserves, failure to produce gas when capable, and non-delivery on contracts to pipelines, natural gas producers have damaged their credibility with Congress, and surely to a much greater degree, the consuming public. The Federal Power Commission's pricing decision, if allowed to stand after judicial review, will add $1.5 billion to the national fuel bill.

It will produce only new prices, not new gas. And that means that once again the American consumer will be left holding the bag.

MARYSVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Florence Miller is a one-woman animal shelter.

The 63-year-old widow takes care of as many as 3,000 stray dogs a year in her county-licensed kennel which costs her $1,000 a month to operate.

"I never know where my money's coming from, but I've never gone broke. Something always comes along just in the nick of time. All I can count on is my Social Security, $90 a month," she said.

She said the rest of her money comes mostly from donations from people who leave dogs with her or who have gotten pets from her.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is emphysema always caused by smoking cigarettes? If not, why is so much pressure being put on us smokers to deprive us of one of the few pleasures left in life? A friend of mine had emphysema and the doctors insist it was because of his smoking.

Mr. T.H., Calif.

Dear Mr. H.:

No, tobacco is not the only cause of emphysema. Buy it undoubtedly is the most important cause of the serious lung condition.

Asthma, chronic bronchitis, dust, molds and chronic irritation by chemical fumes are some of the other possible causes of emphysema.

The fact that there are other causes should not mislead you into believing that tobacco is not the culprit that it is.

Emphysema is a physical condition in which the tiny air sacs in the lung lose their elasticity. The result is that air, with its vital oxygen, is trapped in these sacs and cannot easily be emptied during inhaling and exhaling.

As part of an educational program, I took a group of adults into a hospital and allowed them to see the desperate end results in emphysematous patients who were far too young to be dying of this disease.

I must add that it is indeed sad that you have not found the myriad joys and pleasures in living removed from the single "pleasure" of overindulgence in tobacco.

Why do adults have to be bothered by so-called protective medicine bottles? If they are meant to save children from getting into them, why must we be bothered with them?

Mr. S.K., N.J.

Dear Mr. K.:

Child-resistant medicine bottles have been responsible for reducing fatalities in children, especially those who are tempted by good-tasting "candy medicines." Safety caps have also been responsible for the saving of some adult lives. Many people who are "half-asleep" when they seek out a medicine in the cabinet find that they may have swallowed a drug that they were not looking for.

The safety cap is sufficiently difficult to remove so that it takes complete attention to do it. Thus one is awakened to the exact medicine that he should be taking.

When an adult learns how to remove a safety cap, it becomes very simple. For children it is virtually impossible. If a single life is saved, it will certainly compensate for your temporary annoyance.

Harsha Reports

BY WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
Sixth District Of Ohio

The impact of higher natural gas prices on gas users who must live on fixed incomes seems to be the last consideration of the Federal Power Commission — if indeed it is considered at all.

Faced with stiff opposition in Congress to deregulation of natural gas prices, the Federal Power Commission recently did something of an end run around the legislative process and permitted natural gas producers to hike their prices.

The increase would nearly triple the price of natural gas brought into production since the start of last year. It is estimated that the bonanza for gas producers could result in consumers' paying an additional $1.5 billion in the first year.

The FPC action was immediately challenged in court, and temporarily stayed by a two-judge appeals court panel. However, another panel of three federal judges this week ruled that the enormous increase could be put into effect immediately, so long as the EPC insures that gas producers refund any portions of the new rates subsequently held to be unlawful.

The matter is far from settled since the courts cannot decide on the merits of the FPC price increase until all administrative appeals are exhausted. If an appeal is made, as is almost certain, the Commission will have until Sept. 27 to decide on rehearing the case.

As things now stand, the natural gas industry is still one up on the beleaguered consumer.

Before the FPC approved its biggest natural gas price increase ever, producers were allowed to charge about 52 cents per thousand cubic feet of gas sold in interstate commerce.

That refers to gas sold in a state different from the one in which it is found, as is the case with Ohio.

Under the new FPC ruling, however, producers may charge up to $1.42 for gas produced since the end of 1974. Additionally, the Commission doubled the allowable charge for gas produced between Jan. 1, 1973, and the end of 1974.

The FPC claims that these exorbitant increases are needed to stimulate production of new natural gas sources. According to the Commission the prosperous natural gas industry must be "encouraged" with this bounty to go out and look for more gas.

By its action, however, the FPC is allowing an increase in the price of a substantial amount of gas that has already been discovered and is already being produced.

Not only will that do nothing to stimulate discovery, it will serve to hit the consumer squarely in the pocketbook.

An indirect but significant impact of the price rise is a corresponding rise in the price of goods and services that depend on natural gas for the production process.

The meaning of the Federal Power Commission's arbitrary action is simple enough. Despite an intense and well financed lobbying effort — and with EPC backing — the natural gas industry has thus far failed to get its deregulation plum from Congress. Therefore, it is getting what it can from a predictably generous Federal Power Commission.

With a history of understating reserves, failure to produce gas when capable, and non-delivery on contracts to pipelines, natural gas producers have damaged their credibility with Congress, and surely to a much greater degree, the consuming public.

The Federal Power Commission's pricing decision, if allowed to stand after judicial review, will add $1.5 billion to the national fuel bill.

It will produce only new prices, not new gas. And that means that once again the American consumer will be left holding the bag.

Animal Shelter

MARYSVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Florence Miller is a one-woman animal shelter.

The 63-year-old widow takes care of as many as 3,000 stray dogs a year in her county-licensed kennel which costs her $1,000 a month to operate.

"I never know where my money's coming from, but I've never gone broke. Something always comes along just in the nick of time. All I can count on is my Social Security, $90 a month," she said.

She said the rest of her money comes mostly from donations from people who leave dogs with her or who have gotten pets from her.

INSTRUCTIONS:

1. For best results, apply to material made with at least 50 percent polyester and 50 percent cotton. Shirts of 100 percent cotton do not hold the colors after repeated washings.
2. Cut out pattern along dotted lines.
3. Place a protective piece of cloth or bonded typing paper over the ironing board to keep excess ink from staining ironing board cover.
4. Slip the T-shirt over the end of the board so that the front (or back) is directly over the board's protective cover.

5. Place decal face down on the area of the T-shirt you wish to decorate and pin it to the shirt so it will not slide. Place a clean sheet of paper directly over decal to protect the iron's surface. Do not use heavy paper.
6. Set the iron to the "Cotton" setting and allow it to heat up. Apply with firm, even pressure over entire surface for 30 seconds.
7. Use a dry iron, not steam.
8. Allow to cool for at least one minute before removing paper.

CAUTION

If you have never used an iron before have an adult apply transfer to your T-shirt so everything will come out just right.

LAUNDERING

No special laundering is required. Colors will mellow with the first washing. You can wash and dry with other permanent press clothes using the proper settings or temperatures. Do not use chlorine bleach on any permanent press materials. If properly applied and laundered your T-shirt design will last through repeated washings and dryings.

Roundtown Chapter NSA Donates Money For Grenadier Squaw Memorial

BICENTENNIAL PROJECT — Maxine Andregg, on the right, is shown presenting Elaine Cook, chairman of the Women's Organizations of the Pickaway County Bicentennial Committee, a check for $100, from the National Secretaries Association for the Grenadier Squaw memorial.

A bicentennial project of Roundtown Chapter National Secretaries Association was selling bonnets. One hundred dollars of the proceeds was given to the Women's Organizations of the Pickaway County Bicentennial Committee to aid in the Grenadier Squaw Memorial. Additional money earned from the project will be used for another bicentennial project at a later date.

This was profit from the sale of bonnets which NSA has been selling. The additional money earned will be used for another bicentennial project at a later date. A total of 192 bonnets were sold.

Not only did the sale of bonnets serve as a money making project, but was an interesting exhibit and demonstration at the various activities. It served to show the younger generation the styles of early Americans, and brought back memories to the older people of their mothers and grandmothers wearing these bonnets. The bonnets were sold at Sidewalk Sale, Farm Heritage Days at the Drummond and Green farms, Pumpkin Show, Deercreek Dam Days, Heritage Days at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds, and at the Ashville Fourth of July.

Maxine Andregg served as chairman of the NSA Bicentennial Committee with Marie Neff assisting.

Mrs. James Irwin Entertains Pickaway County Garden Club

Pickaway County Garden Club met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. James Irwin in Ashville. Mrs. Bernard Savey presided at the business session held by the family swimming pool.

Miss Mariam Weaver proposed the club become a member of Nature Conservancy and members voted to join. Both Nature Conservancy and Garden Club of Ohio will have booths at the Ohio State Fair. Volunteers are needed for these projects. Miss Weaver showed a commendation from the Ohio Senate honoring her and Pickaway Garden Club for the Stage's Pond Project.

Mrs. Savey announced there would be a flower show at Chillicothe Veteran's Hospital on Sept. 8.

Volunteers are needed to help the veterans prepare arrangements on Sept. 7.

Members voted to discontinue Ecology 10:30, the radio program it has sponsored for the past five years. The programs will end the last of September.

Mrs. William Leist outlined programs for the coming year. The next meeting will be Sept. 14th at Pickaway Country Club with dinner beginning at 6:30 p.m. Reservations must be made by Sept. 11th with Mrs. C. K. Vaughan 474-5343, Mrs. Luther Bower, 474-4603, Mrs. Collis Young 474-3538 and Mrs. Karl Seyfarth 474-6128. New officers will be installed and the program will be "Bicentennial Highlights" by Ned Harden.

Mrs. John Fanale, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Darrell Hatfield who spoke on "Hanging Baskets."

Dessert was served by Mrs. Robert Steele, Mrs. Calvin Danford, Mrs. Schubert Measamer and Mrs. Monte Vorhees.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

An Unusual Wedding Problem

DEAR ABBY: I am going to be married at a church wedding. I know it's customary to seat the guests of the bride on one side of the church and the guests of the groom on the other side. My fiancé is black and I am white, and we don't want the church to be segregated blacks on one side and whites on the other. How can we seat the guests so this won't happen?

ANTI-SEGREGATIONIST

DEAR ANTI: Ignore these traditional protocol and integrate the guests. How else?

DEAR ABBY: I see letters in your column from young mothers complaining because their mothers and mothers-in-law spoil the grandchildren and even fight to babysit with them. It should happen to me!

My children, ages 2, 5 and 7, are the victims of two liberated grandmothers. I would never dream of asking my mother to babysit because she made it clear from the start that she would not sit with my children except in an emergency.

My husband's mother is so busy with her poodles, shopping for antiques and playing cards that she hasn't time for her grandchildren. On their birthdays and Christmas she sends them checks! (Abby, what do 2, 5, and 7-year-olds know about checks?)

I have taken studio portraits of all my children and have sent them to both sets of grandparents, but I've yet to see any of them displayed.

I'm not asking for "help" with a problem, because there's really no solution, but it sure felt good to get this off my chest. Thanks, Abby.

FEELS BETTER IN CHICAGO

DEAR FEELS: In a few years your "liberated grandmothers" may regret what approaches estrangement from their grandchildren. Kids can be a pain in the neck in their early years, but a joy later on. And one day the "liberated" grandmothers may wish they had that kind of joy.

Two Men Injured In Crash

Two Franklin County men were injured in a one-car accident 8:45 p.m. Sunday on the Walnut Creek Pike, north of the Perrill Road intersection.

Douglas B. Kulich, 19, Grove City, was admitted to Mercy Hospital, Columbus, for treatment of a compound fracture to his right leg, facial lacerations, and contusions, according to Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff William Carmean.

Delmar L. Sayre, 21, Groveport, was treated at the Columbus hospital for facial lacerations, a neck sprain, and possible back injuries and later released.

Deputy Carmean said Sayre was driving south on the Walnut Creek Pike in a curve when the car went off the left side of the road. The vehicle hit a guard rail post, continued 90 feet, hit a tree, spun in a complete circle, and struck the tree again.

Guns Taken From Home

About $700 worth of weapons were taken from the home of Flem Blair, Route 3, Mt. Sterling, last weekend, according to a report at the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

The rear door latch to the house was pried, deputies said. The theft occurred between Friday and Sunday.

The arsenal included a .44 caliber magnum revolver, other handguns, and an assortment of shotguns.

Thieves apparently used the 7815 Mound St., Orient, home of Randy and Linda Deckard for illicit acts before escaping with about $250 worth of cash and clothing.

Dputy Sheriff Larry Kellenberger said the incident occurred sometime after Aug. 2.

After failing to gain entry through the rear door, the thieves opened the window on the master bedroom.

Change in the amount of $173.50, blank Ohio National Bank checks, and $84.50 worth of clothes were taken.

Robert Wallace, 11594 Hedges St., Ashville, told deputies that thieves tore a screen from his house Saturday or Sunday to take $175 worth of merchandise, including a 19-inch black and white television set, 60 record albums, and an AM radio.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

An Unusual Wedding Problem

DEAR ABBY: I am going to be married at a church wedding. I know it's customary to seat the guests of the bride on one side of the church and the guests of the groom on the other side.

My fiancé is black and I am white, and we don't want the church to be segregated blacks on one side and whites on the other.

How can we seat the guests so this won't happen?

ANTI-SEGREGATIONIST
DEAR ANTI: Ignore these traditional protocol and integrate the guests. How else?

DEAR ABBY: I see letters in your column from young mothers complaining because their mothers and mothers-in-law spoil the grandchildren and even fight to babysit with them. It should happen to me!

My children, ages 2, 5 and 7, are the victims of two liberated grandmothers. I would never dream of asking my mother to babysit because she made it clear from the start that she would not sit with my children except in an emergency.

My husband's mother is so busy with her poodles, shopping for antiques and playing cards that she hasn't time for her grandchildren. On their birthdays and Christmas she sends them checks! (Abby, what do 2, 5, and 7-year-olds know about checks?)

I have taken studio portraits of all my children and have sent them to both sets of grandparents, but I've yet to see any of them displayed.

I'm not asking for "help" with a problem, because there's really no solution, but it sure felt good to get this off my chest. Thanks, Abby.

FEELS BETTER IN CHICAGO

DEAR FEELS: In a few years your "liberated grandmothers" may regret what approaches estrangement from their grandchildren. Kids can be a pain in the neck in their early years, but a joy later on. And one day the "liberated" grandmothers may wish they had that kind of joy.

Ohio Senate Report

By OAKLEY C. COLLINS
17th District Senator

The legislature is recessed until September 14. This column continues a series of reports reviewing action in the 111th General Assembly.

At the present time, three bills are pending before the Senate Judiciary Committee which would stiffen penalties for carrying or using a gun in committing a crime.

H.B. 53 allows a juvenile who uses a gun in the commission of an alleged offense to be tried as an adult. This affects the court procedure, types of admissible evidence, and allows stronger penalties.

H.B. 388 sets minimum actual incarceration sentences for offenses committed while using or carrying a firearm from 2 to 5 years, and fines from $2,500 to $10,000. Repeat offenses draw longer sentences, up to 25 years.

This bill also requires licensing of wholesale and retail firearm dealers. A dealer's license shall not be granted to anyone convicted of illegally possessing or using firearms or criminal tools, using weapons while intoxicated, improperly furnishing firearms to a minor, etc.

As originally passed by the House, H.B. 441 held the potential for statewide registration of handguns, and permitted gun dealers to pry into the personal life of handgun purchasers to see if they had any prior criminal convictions. It was reconsidered and this language was taken out.

The bill now requires firearm dealers to wait 5 days before delivering a handgun to a purchaser. This is a "cooling-off period," since many shootings are due to the heat of the moment after an argument or emotional upset.

It also provides terms of actual incarceration for carrying a concealed weapon, and having a firearm while committing certain offenses.

H.B. 82, which goes into effect September 29, establishes a system to pay reparations to crime victims. It works on the theory that it is society's responsibility to protect citizens from crime, and it should compensate victims for economic loss due to crime when it fails to do so.

H.B. 82 entitles crime victims and their dependents to file a civil action against the state for up to $50,000, minus collateral income (insurance, workman's compensation, etc.) coming from the crime.

Claims are awarded through the state Court of Claims for medical or burial expenses, hospitalization, lost income, and other reasonable services the victim might have provided his family.

Awards come from a reparations rotary fund established from a $3 fine on all convictions in Ohio other than a non-moving traffic violation. This is expected to yield about $3.8 million per year for the rotary fund.

Also eligible for reparations are persons (and their dependents) injured or killed in trying to stop a crime or apprehend a criminal.

H.B. 164 mandates county and state public defenders to represent indigent citizens in court. It gives each county the option to establish its own public defender system, join a multi-county system, or otherwise pay for legal representation of the indigent.

Public defender costs in state courts are to be borne by the state, and the state reimburses counties for 50 per cent of the cost of their public defender costs.

Governor Rhodes vetoed a costly part of H.B. 164 which would allow public defenders to pursue any remedy or appeal he decides is "in the interests of justice." This would have given open-ended authority to prosecute appeals that are unnecessary and unwarranted.

Two bills deal with identification of law enforcement officers. A new law goes into effect next month which creates the crime of impersonating a law enforcement officer.

H.B. 1144 specifically prohibits false identification in this regard to stop or search someone, or to commit or facilitate an offense. Penalties depend on the seriousness of the offense committed.

H.B. 188 has been reported out by the Senate Transportation and Local Government Committee. It requires motor vehicles used by peace officers in enforcing traffic laws to display an identification number.

Present law requires a distinctive emblem or color, but no other identification for each individual vehicle. This would be a convenient reference for citizens dealing with law enforcement officials.

Areas which have not received the attention they deserve are organized crime and a study of the effectiveness of different types of parole and probation.

Reynolds Declares Dividend

Reynolds Metals Company's board of directors increased the quarterly dividend on the company's common stock to 30 cents per share from 25 cents paid in the previous quarter, and elected two new directors.

The new directors are W. S. Leonhardt, chairman of IMC Chemical Group, Inc., and executive vice president and a director of International Minerals & Chemical Corporation and Allen W. Merrell, chairman and president of the Sattley Company, Detroit, and formerly a vice president of Ford Motor Company.

Leonhardt and Merrell fill vacancies created by the retirement from the board of Joseph H. McConnell, formerly president of the company and a director for 21 years, and C. E. Coghill, formerly financial vice president of the company and a director for 20 years.

The dividend on common stock, without par value, is payable October 1 to holders of stock of record September 10.

The company also declared a dividend of 59 3/4 cents per share on its cumulative preferred stock, 4 1/4 per cent Series A, par value $50 per share, for the quarterly period ending October 31, payable November 1, to holders of record October 12.

Reynolds further declared a dividend of $1.12 1/2 per share on its second preferred stock, 4 1/2 per cent convertible series, par value $100 per share, for the quarterly period ending October 31, payable November 1, to holders of record October 12.

MARJORIE FARRIER

COLUMBUS — Marjorie E. Farrier, a 29-year-old former school teacher recently employed by the Ohio Department of Highway Safety, has been appointed department field representative for Ohio District 6, Highway Safety Director Donald D. Cook announced today.

District 6 includes Delaware, Fairfield, Fayette, Franklin, Licking, Madison, Pickaway and Union Counties.

Cook said Farrier's responsibilities will include formation of safety councils and working with existing safety councils, civic organizations, youth and senior citizen groups throughout the eight-county area.

Special duties will include assignments as advisor to the Youth and Women's Subcommittees of the Governor's Traffic Safety Committee.

Farrier also will be available to speak on various aspects of highway safety to organization meetings; to initiate programs with local groups; to teach defensive driving classes and to keep local officials and news media informed of traffic statistics and highway safety needs in their locales.

Farrier's educational background includes graduation from Oak Hills High School in Cincinnati and attendance of Mt. St. Joseph College there. She is a graduate of the University of Dayton with majors in education and social science. She also attended Ohio State University and graduate school at the University of Arizona in Tucson.

Professional credits include employment as a teacher of social studies in Dayton, and Sierra Vista, Ariz. She also worked as a newspaper reporter in Arizona.

Farrier's most recent teaching position was at Roosevelt Junior High School in Columbus, where she taught mathematics, social studies and English.

Six Quakers from Virginia established homes on the banks of the Mahoning River just north of the present site of Alliance in 1806. Within the next 30 years three more towns were established nearby, Freedom, Williamsport and Mount Union. In 1854 the four communities were united under the name of Alliance.

Easier Laws Win GOP Backing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Some of Ohio's newly enacted laws which make it easier to do such things as drink and gamble are not the handiwork of "flaming liberals" as one might expect.

Instead, they can be traced to what may be a breed of politician who defies a liberal or conservative label. Of those laws that come to mind quickly, three originated with otherwise conservative Republicans, and two were signed by GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Five-term Rep. John A. Galbraith, R-69 Maumee, most recently won approval and Rhodes signed, effective last week, a new statute that authorizes the sale of liquor on election day.

Two years ago, Galbraith, who calls himself an "organized conservative," meaning, he said, that he is selective about issues, sponsored a successful bill that repealed Ohio's blue laws.

Dating back to the time when Ohio was part of the Northwest Territory, they banned all but essential sales and business activity on Sunday.

Although his blue law repealer opened department stores and shopping centers on Sunday with legal sanction, the old statutes were not being enforced.

Galbraith said "we have to live with reality," and he pointed out that the removal of outdated statutes from lawbooks is consistent with conservatism because, in effect, it means less government interference and more individual liberty.

The same applied to his election day liquor bill, he said.

Another Republican, former Rep. Richard R. Hollington of Cleveland, was successful in 1969 after a long fight to permit Sunday liquor sales in Ohio. His city helped in the campaign to attract more convention business.

Rhodes, in his nearly 10 years as governor, signed Hollington's bill into law after many conservative politicians predicted a veto. The 66-year-old governor throughout has been conservative on some issues, liberal on others, obviously at times depending on which way the political winds were blowing.

Other recent laws that may be causing Ohio to shed its traditional conservative image made legal abortions possible, established a state lottery, and permitted horse racing on Sunday.

Retardation Board Meeting Is Aug. 25

Wilkowski sponsored the abortion law and the bill that allows horse races on Sunday. Both of those measures were signed into law by former Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan.

Easier Laws Win GOP Backing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Some of Ohio's newly enacted laws which make it easier to do such things as drink and gamble are not the handiwork of "flaming liberals" as one might expect.

Instead, they can be traced to what may be a breed of politician who defies a liberal or conservative label. Of those laws that come to mind quickly, three originated with otherwise conservative Republicans, and two were signed by GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Five-term Rep. John A. Galbraith, R-69 Maumee, most recently won approval and Rhodes signed, effective last week, a new statute that authorizes the sale of liquor on election day.

Two years ago, Galbraith, who calls himself an "organized conservative," meaning, he said, that he is selective about issues, sponsored a successful bill that repealed Ohio's blue laws.

Dating back to the time when Ohio was part of the Northwest Territory, they banned all but essential sales and business activity on Sunday.

Although his blue law repealer opened department stores and shopping centers on Sunday with legal sanction, the old statutes were not being enforced.

Galbraith said "we have to live with reality," and he pointed out that the removal of outdated statutes from lawbooks is consistent with conservatism because, in effect, it means less government interference and more individual liberty.

The same applied to his election day liquor bill, he said.

Another Republican, former Rep. Richard R. Hollington of Cleveland, was successful in 1969 after a long fight to permit Sunday liquor sales in Ohio. His city helped in the campaign to attract more convention business.

Rhodes, in his nearly 10 years as governor, signed Hollington's bill into law after many conservative politicians predicted a veto. The 66-year-old governor throughout has been conservative on some issues, liberal on others, obviously at times depending on which way the political winds were blowing.

Other recent laws that may be causing Ohio to shed its traditional conservative image made legal abortions possible, established a state lottery, and permitted horse racing on Sunday.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Lucy's mother was suing the man next door for assault and battery, and eight-year-old Lucy was the key witness. But when she took the stand, the defense objected that she was too young to testify.

Was she? At a preliminary meeting with the judge, Lucy had been asked what would happen to her if she told a lie. Her reply:

"I would go to the bad place." Because of that exchange, the judge decided to let her testify. He felt that her answer showed she had a powerful incentive to tell the truth.

Many a lawsuit hinges on what a youngster has seen or heard. One test of competency, as in the case above, is whether the child feels a moral obligation to be honest.

Another test is the level of the child's intelligence. In an accident case, the judge asked a five-year-old witness where he lived, with whom, and where he went to church. Not one of his answers was correct.

The judge accordingly ruled that the child could not testify. The chance of getting trustworthy information from him, said the judge, was just too remote.

Of course, since no two cases are alike, a good deal of flexibility is called for. In a prosecution for homicide, a seven-year-old girl was an important witness for the state. But she was so timid on the stand that she was unable to finish her story.

To put the child at ease, the judge invited her to sit on his lap. Thus reassured, she was able to complete her testimony.

Was the judge's action proper? An appellate court said yes. The court said the right way to handle this kind of problem is "peculiarly within the discretion of the trial judge."

Claim Ford Veto Costly To Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Iowa Congressman says that President Ford's veto of a major farm bill in the spring of 1975 cost soybean farmers $400 million and is responsible for the doubling of soybean-meal prices in a season's time.

Democrat Neal Smith's state has estimated that soybean production this fall will be off last year's harvest by 8.7 per cent, with acreage down almost 6 per cent.

In a recent statement, Smith said that farmers should blame the Republican administration for "failure...to provide a soybean loan program last fall."

The farm bill in question would have increased the production loan rates for the major grains and mandated one for soybeans, which the Agriculture Department opposed as unnecessarily inflationary.

"It was the first time since the days of the Great Depression that there was no USDA soybean loan program at harvest time," Smith said.

The 1975 crop, the marketing year for which ends Sept. 30, reached 1.52 billion bushels, second in size only to the 1973 harvest. Indications as of Aug. 1 for the 1976 crop are for production of 1.34 billion, 12 per cent less.

The number of acres planted is down 8 per cent from last year, but USDA surveys in July showed significant double cropping going on behind small grains and on abandoned cotton fields.

Smith indicated that the disrupted, loan-less market is behind this. He said that, if it had been possible last fall at harvest time, growers would have probably put 150 to 200 million bushels in storage as collateral under the government loan program.

"Farmers who could afford to do so resisted selling at less than the cost of production (in the swollen market), but they finally had to sell," he said.

That resulted in "an excessively heavy crush of soybeans and relatively cheap soybean meal," said Smith, drawing on economic evaluations he had done for him.

Lifesaving Crabs

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — The horseshoe crab has been found to have a type of blood that is of a special chemical nature that makes it valuable in detecting bacterial contamination in various drugs.

According to Dr. Edwin Joseph, director of the South Carolina Division of Marine Resources, researchers with his agency and other scientists have established pilot projects at the Fort Johnson Marine Laboratories in Charleston to "farm" the organisms for commercial use.

Joseph, who was here attending the Conference on Marine Resources of the Coastal Plains, said at least three pharmaceutical firms are completing details on how they will go about using the serum of the horseshoe crab for testing the quality of their drug products.

Ashland, Mansfield and Dexter City each have monuments to Jonathan Chapman, "Johnny Appleseed," credited with starting the first apple orchards in Ohio.

Public Interest Groups Proliferating

WASHINGTON (AP) — The giant industries that provide free travel, recreation and perhaps sex to lobby for their causes capture most of the headlines, but there are hundreds of smaller public interest groups also trying to influence policy.

Representatives of these organizations say they depend on the average citizen, sometimes poor and sometimes healthy, to support their causes which range across the political spectrum.

Their sworn financial statements, filed with various state agencies, with the clerk of the House and the secretary of the Senate and the Federal Elections Commission, tend to bear this out.

Applegate May Run

By STEVEN R. HURST
Associated Press Writer

A Steubenville state representative and a Woodsfield lawyer have appeared as two likely candidates to replace Rep. Wayne L. Hayes on the November ballot.

The ballot slot opened Friday when Hays announced he was withdrawing from the race. He listed health problems and harassment from the news media about his admitted affair with Elizabeth Ray as his reasons for deciding not to run again.

State Sen. Douglas Applegate, D-30 Steubenville, considered by many to be the likely choice among 18th Congressional District Democrats to replace Hays on the ballot, said Hays called him at 8 a.m. Friday to tell him of his decision to withdraw.

"I was very much surprised at his announcement. I didn't think he would withdraw. I thought he would hang in there because he wanted an exoneration from the people," Applegate said.

Applegate withdrew Friday as a candidate for re-election, in a move to make him available to replace Hays on the ballot. The senator said his position in the legislature makes him the only person in the 18th with a district-wide base.

"I was planning on running for Congress in 1978 anyhow, but since the vacancy is there now, I'm hoping that I'll be the one selected to fill it," he said.

Plate Replica For Museum Eyed

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — State officials are considering adding a replica of a precious lead plate found at the mouth of the Kanawha River to exhibits at the West Virginia Science and Culture Center.

The plate, now owned by the Virginia Historical Society, was buried by French explorers near Point Pleasant on Aug. 18, 1749.

The director of the Virginia Historical Society, John M. Jennings, suggested that arrangements be made to cast a replica of the plate for the state culture center. An official at the center said the state was exploring that possibility.

policy," says President David Cohen of Common Cause, "so we feel there should be full accounting, with no ifs, ands or buts."

Cohen said in an interview that anyone can drop into Common Cause's headquarters in downtown Washington and look at everything: the budget, list of members, other contributors, copies of official financial reports, expenditures and the like.

He cites with pride an inhouse study which showed that three-fourths of the staff output last year was contributed by volunteers.

Common Cause, which describes itself as a citizens' lobby, is dedicated to basic reforms. It claims a measure of credit for changes in campaigning financing, the opening up of many House committee meetings, and elimination of the strict seniority system in Congress.

It initiated the process which resulted in the recent House reprimand of Rep. Robert L.F. Sikes, D-Fla., for conflict of interest.

It is one of the largest of the public interest groups, with an annual budget of about $5.5 million. F. Robert Meier, secretary-treasurer, says the current membership is about 255,000, down from a peak of 325,000 at the height of Watergate.

Dues are $15 a year, and Meier says dues and contributions of less than $100 account for 94 per cent of the group's income. Common Cause does not accept corporate or union support of more than $100, but Meier says many such groups pay that amount in order to receive its literature.

There is a large constituency for the AFL-CIO's COPE — Committee for Political Action — with its access to a claimed 14 million union members.

A spokesman said COPE has an administrative budget of about $1 million yearly, contributed from union dues by its affiliates, and that in addition the union contributes from $1 million to $1.2 million to candidates.

COPE traditionally does not contribute to presidential campaigns, but the spokesman said it usually gives donations to 330 to 350 candidates for the House and 25 to 30 for the Senate. There normally are about 34 Senate races every two years.

COPE's report to the Federal Elections Commission through June 30 shows receipts of $1,529,870 and expenditures of $689,122, with cash on hand at the end of the month of $840,747.

During the month of June, it reported, it made contributions aggregating $82,800 to 28 candidates for the House and Senate. Some were for $1,000, some for $5,000, most for around $2,500.

Two groups which attract considerable media attention because they rate members of Congress on their voting records are ACA and ADA — Americans for Constitutional Action and Americans for Democratic Action.

As far as it is possible to attach labels, ACA is conservative and ADA liberal. A member of Congress who scores 6 out of a possible 100 on the ACA index may rate 94 with ADA, and vice versa.

Chairman Charlene Baker of Americans for Constitutional Action says her group's budget is about $100,000 a year, and that it has a membership of around 5,000 which has remained fairly stable.

There are no fixed dues, but anyone who contributes $10 or more a year receives the group's literature, including a newsletter and the ACA Index listing members of Congress.

Miss Baker says her organization helps candidates of its choice by handling mailings and by fund-raising receptions at which guests are charged $100.

In 1974, she said, ACA was responsible for raising $455,000 which went directly to candidates.

Americans for Democratic Action says it wants to elect candidates in tune with its political philosophies, although not through direct contributions. The election help comes from lobbying and education efforts.

"We are a political organization; there's no doubt of that," said a spokeswoman. She said the group's largest expenditure is for publications, and that with mounting costs the task of attracting non-tax exempt contributions to supplement dues income is marked "by great agony."

ADA has an annual budget of about $350,000. Dues are levied on something called a unit of membership, which may be one person or a couple, usually at $20 a year, although some local chapters may charge different fees.

2-Year-Old Girl Battles Arthritis

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two-year-old Della Briggs faces an added handicap in her first efforts to walk.

The chubby Ashland toddler is showing the onset of an arthritic condition in an ankle. She is one of the youngest of the Children's Hospital out-patients at its regional juvenile arthritis clinic.

Della is paying her first visit to the center. Each Monday, children aged 2 through 20 from Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia and western Pennsylvania are treated at the clinic.

Arthritis is labeled "juvenile" if it occurs in a patient under 16, Dr. Jack C. Bass, director of the clinic, explained. It is divided into three types.

Systemic begins, he said, with high fever, rash, possibly some cardiac involvement. Polyarticular, "rather insidious" in its onset, involves more than five joints. Pauciarticular involves less than five.

Some children outgrow juvenile arthritis, Bass said. About 80 per cent can go into remission with treatment, but about 40 per cent of those, he said, will have a relapse.

That happened to Deborah Mines, 19, of Springfield, now a college student in Jackson, Tenn. She had arthritis for two years, went into quick remission after treatment, but had a recurrence this spring.

The joints of her slim fingers show the telltale thickening and crooking the disease causes. She takes 20 aspirin daily to counteract the pain and stiffness. She also exercises.

Eye problems are a side-effect of juvenile arthritis, Bass explained, and an examination by an ophthalmologist is part of each patient's clinic visit.

An infection called iridocyclitis, occurring in 10 to 20 per cent of juvenile arthritis patients, can lead to blindness if untreated. Cortisone can cause cataracts.

"We've been watching some of these patients for five years," explained ophthalmologist Dr. Richard Simmons, as he completed examination of two teenagers. "We're interested in their vision and in any sign of inflammation."

The clinic logs more than 400 visits a year from young patients, Bass said. Nationwide, he estimates that about 66,000 children, one in each 10,000 suffer from the disease.

PET OF THE WEEK — The Pickaway County pet-of-the-week is a year and a half old male Irish Setter. If you would like this dog as your pet, you may pick him up at the Pickaway County Animal Shelter, or call 474-3741. The Pickaway County Humane Society reminds you that leaving your pet in a parked car during the hot summer months, even for a short period, can result in the death of the animal. Even if the windows are open, a parked car becomes unbearably hot in a very short time.

Hocking County Fears Continue

LOGAN, Ohio (AP) — Ever since a bullet crashed through the window of his car late one night this month, Doug Hoyd has been taking a different road home from his job at Mace's grocery here.

He says he isn't sure who was responsible for the shooting the night of Aug. 2. "It could have been anybody."

But that doesn't mean, Hoyd says, he is ruling out a tie between the shooting and a series of animal mutilations in this small town and surrounding Hocking County — an area dotted with small villages tucked among gentle hills.

"I was on my way to mom's house to pick up my wife that night, when I saw two flashes from the end of a rifle. It was about 100 yards down the road on a bank. I slowed down and that's when a third shot came through the windshield," Hoyd recalled.

The shooting occurred at the top of a hill where the narrow road descends into the village of Union Furnace. Hoyd's mother lives at the bottom of the hill.

"I drove fast past where the shots came from and didn't stop until I got to mom's house."

Hoyd has a 4-year-old son and infant daughter. He lives in Haydenville, just six miles east of Logan and when he got home with his wife that night "She told me at first I wasn't coming in. She said somebody's going to get hurt bad."

Hoyd said he thinks the shooting might have been in reaction to vigilante activities in the county. Some local CB radio operators have been chasing people through the countryside at night, hoping, they say to catch those responsible for the animal mutilations.

"Now, I'm not saying I'm one of those vigilantes," Hoyd cautions.

But he does say something has to be done, and that he and others wonder if the local law enforcement agencies can stop the craze.

"It took the local law 25 to 30 minutes to get here after I call about the shooting," he said.

Hoyd and many residents of Hocking County are on edge because of the series of mutilations that began May 27. Since then 11 animals have been mutilated according to reports filed with the Logan police and Hocking County sheriff.

J. W. Riddlebarger lost his 6-year-old pet female llama to the craze. Riddlebarger says someone punctured the animal's abdominal cavity and her intestines seeped through.

"She was pregnant and I just thought she was having a miscarriage at first," Riddlebarger said.

He still has a male llama and said he no longer leaves the animal in his barn at night.

"He has a better chance in the open. He can run if he's free and these hoodlums return."

Riddlebarger says the mutilated female was in a 10 by 10 foot stall in the barn and was unable to escape.

A family north of Logan lost a steer to the mutilators. It was castrated. The William Sickles' lost several pet rabbits. Their heads and feet were cut off. JoAnn Sickles says she isn't sure the dead rabbits were the work of mutilators. It could have been dogs, she says. Mac McHone of rural Logan lost some pigs and a horse.

Both Hocking County Sheriff Paul Hartman and Logan Police Chief James Thompson have issued statements telling frightened residents not to believe the rumor that the mutilations are the work of a group of religious cultists roaming the hills at night, burning fires and wearing black robes and hoods.

A joint statement several days ago also reminded people that there has been no harm done humans.

Hoyd might agree he has not been harmed but he isn't sure someone didn't try.

First Lady Says She Can't Lose

NEW YORK (AP) — First Lady Betty Ford says she can't lose.

She will be a winner, she says, whether or not her husband wins the GOP presidential nomination in Kansas City, Mo., and whether or not he beats Jimmy Carter in November to return to the White House.

"If Jerry gets the nomination, then I win as a citizen of this country because, in my opinion, he is the most experienced and qualified man for the job."

"If he doesn't get the nomination, or if he gets it and should lose the presidency to Jimmy Carter, then I win as a wife, because after the campaign he will retire from active politics."

Mrs. Ford made her comments in Sunday's Parade Magazine.

Crashes Kill 12 Persons Over Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Twelve persons were killed in traffic accidents around Ohio over the weekend, including three in a single car accident on Cincinnati's west side and two in a two-car crash near Cheviot, the Highway Patrol said.

The patrol began the count at 6 p.m. Friday. It ended at midnight Sunday.

SUNDAY

TOLEDO — Janet Roseberger, 18, Sylvania, passenger in a two-car collision on a Lucas County road near Toledo.

OLMSTED TOWNSHIP — Thomas R. Stallkamp, 28, of Elyria, in a two-car head-on collision on a Cuyahoga County road in Olmsted Township.

CHEVIOT — Sherri L. Herbstreit, 19, the driver, and Helen M. Herbstreit, 51, both of Moresville, Ind., in a two-car crash on an entrance ramp to I-74.

SATURDAY

PORT CLINTON — Charles Maynard, 39, Port Clinton, when his car veered off a county road, went over a ledge and into Lake Erie.

CINCINNATI — Jeffery M. Voss, 19, and Patricia Ochner, 19, both of Newport, Ky., and Sharon Corcoran, 24, of Withamsville, Ohio, when their car struck a utility pole on a city street.

YOUNGSTOWN — Larry Mayle, 17, of Hubbard, in a motorcycle-two car collision in Mahoning County.

FRIDAY NIGHT

NEWARK — Gregory A. Stoneking, 15, Pataskala, when the pickup truck in which he was riding flipped over on a township road near here.

MIDDLETOWN — Ivan Starcher, 39, West Chester, when he drove his car through a bridge that had been closed.

WEST UNION — Tina Spaulding, 10, of Sardinia, a passenger in a auto involved in a mishap in Adams County near the Brown-Adams county lines.

Rhodes Ends Support Of Connally

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes says he no longer is promoting John Connally for the Republican vice presidential nomination because of questions raised about the prospective Connally candidacy.

"I don't have any particular choice" for vice president now, Rhodes said, but added that he still considers Connally as perhaps the strongest campaigner the Republicans could put before the voters in November.

Rhodes has promoted the former Texas governor, a relative newcomer to the Republican party, among Ohio delegates.

Among those raising the questions were several republican members of the House Judiciary Committee, which heard White House tapes involving Connally during its consideration of articles of impeachment against former president Richard M. Nixon.

Rhodes said Connally has been hurt by the discussion, and blamed "a studied plot" by unknown persons.

Rhodes arrived in Kansas City on Sunday to join the 97-member Ohio delegation to the Republican National Convention.

He planned to leave the convention today for meetings in Washington with two Japanese auto manufacturers who he said are thinking of locating plants in Ohio.

He said he will meet Tuesday morning in Columbus with federal officials to discuss the state's financially-troubled Medicaid system before returning to Kansas City for the Tuesday night session.

Bob Hope Raises Money For Hotel

FREDERICKSBURG, Tex. (AP) — Comedian Bob Hope entertained 15,000 persons at a fairgrounds to raise money to restore an historic hotel.

"Whew, they build those things strong, don't they," Hope said after he needed help this past weekend in wielding a sledgehammer to whack a corner out of the old Nimitz hotel.

The landmark was built by the late Adm. Chester Nimitz' grandfather in 1866, and the Nimitz Commission plans to renovate it to its old "steamboat" appearance.

Temperatures plunged well below normal this morning, with readings early Tuesday expected to be close to records in some spots.

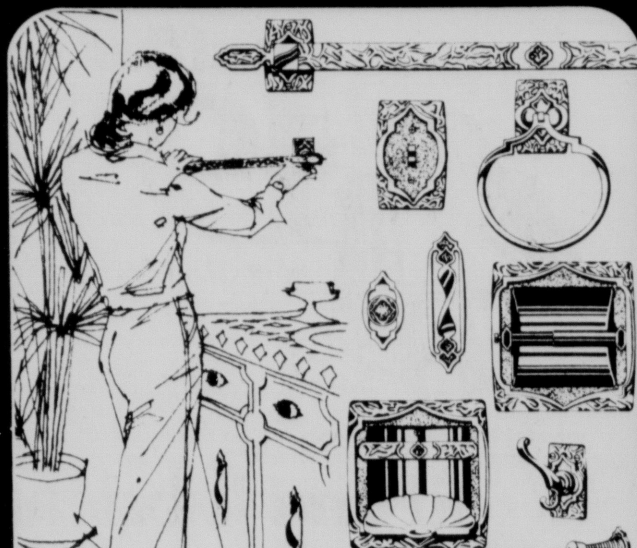

Cool, northerly winds blowing ahead of a large high pressure system in the upper Great Lakes are responsible for the chilly temperatures. The high was expected to dominate Ohio's weather for the next couple of days.

This means skies will be sunny today and Tuesday and clear tonight, but afternoon readings will reach only the 70s today and the 70s or low 80s Tuesday. The mercury will drop into the upper 40s and 50s tonight

2-Year-Old Girl Battles Arthritis

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two-year-old Della Briggs faces an added handicap in her first efforts to walk. The chubby Ashland toddler is showing the onset of an arthritic condition in an ankle. She is one of the youngest of the Children's Hospital out-patients at its regional juvenile arthritis clinic.

Della is paying her first visit to the center. Each Monday, children aged 2 through 20 from Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia and western Pennsylvania are treated at the clinic.

Arthritis is labeled "juvenile" if it occurs in a patient under 16, Dr. Jack C. Bass, director of the clinic, explained. It is divided into three types. Systemic begins, he said, with high fever, rash, possibly some cardiac involvement. Polyarticular, "rather insidious" in its onset, involves more than five joints. Pauciarticular involves less than five.

Some children outgrow juvenile arthritis, Bass said. About 80 per cent can go into remission with treatment, but about 40 per cent of those, he said, will have a relapse.

That happened to Deborah Mines, 19, of Springfield, now a college student in Jackson, Tenn. She had arthritis for two years, went into quick remission after treatment, but had a recurrence this spring.

The joints of her slim fingers show the telltale thickening and crooking the disease causes. She takes 20 aspirin daily to counteract the pain and stiffness. She also exercises.

Eye problems are a side-effect of juvenile arthritis, Bass explained, and an examination by an ophthalmologist is part of each patient's clinic visit.

An infection called iridocyclitis, occurring in 10 to 20 per cent of juvenile arthritis patients, can lead to blindness if untreated. Cortisone can cause cataracts.

"We've been watching some of these patients for five years," explained ophthalmologist Dr. Richard Simmons, as he completed examination of two teenagers. "We're interested in their vision and in any sign of inflammation."

The clinic logs more than 400 visits a year from young patients, Bass said. Nationwide, he estimates that about 66,000 children, one in each 10,000 suffer from the disease.

Hocking County Fears Continue

LOGAN, Ohio (AP) — Ever since a bullet crashed through the window of his car late one night this month, Doug Hoyd has been taking a different road home from his job at Mace's grocery here.

He says he isn't sure who was responsible for the shooting the night of Aug. 2. "It could have been anybody."

But that doesn't mean, Hoyd says, he is ruling out a tie between the shooting and a series of animal mutilations in this small town and surrounding Hocking County — an area dotted with small villages tucked among gentle hills.

"I was on my way to mom's house to pick up my wife that night, when I saw two flashes from the end of a rifle. It was about 100 yards down the road on a bank. I slowed down and that's when a third shot came through the windshield," Hoyd recalled.

The shooting occurred at the top of a hill where the narrow road descends into the village of Union Furnace. Hoyd's mother lives at the bottom of the hill.

"I drove fast past where the shots came from and didn't stop until I got to mom's house."

Hoyd has a 4-year-old son and infant daughter. He lives in Haydenville, just six miles east of Logan and when he got home with his wife that night "She told me at first I wasn't coming in. She said somebody's going to get hurt bad."

Hoyd said he thinks the shooting might have been in reaction to vigilante activities in the county. Some local CB radio operators have been chasing people through the countryside at night, hoping, they say to catch those responsible for the animal mutilations.

"Now, I'm not saying I'm one of those vigilantes," Hoyd cautions.

But he does say something has to be done, and that he and others wonder if the local law enforcement agencies can stop the craze.

"It took the local law 25 to 30 minutes to get here after I call about the shooting," he said.

Hoyd and many residents of Hocking County are on edge because of the series of mutilations that began May 27. Since then 11 animals have been mutilated according to reports filed with the Logan police and Hocking County sheriff.

J. W. Riddlebarger lost his 6-year-old pet female llama to the craze. Riddlebarger says someone punctured the animal's abdominal cavity and her intestines seeped through.

"She was pregnant and I just thought she was having a miscarriage at first," Riddlebarger said.

He still has a male llama and said he no longer leaves the animal in his barn at night.

"He has a better chance in the open. He can run if he's free and these hoodlums return."

Riddlebarger says the mutilated female was in a 10 by 10 foot stall in the barn and was unable to escape.

A family north of Logan lost a steer to the mutilators. It was castrated. The William Sickles lost several pet rabbits. Their heads and feet were cut off. JoAnn Sickles says she isn't sure the dead rabbits were the work of mutilators. It could have been dogs, she says. Mac McHone of rural Logan lost some pigs and a horse.

Both Hocking County Sheriff Paul Hartman and Logan Police Chief James Thompson have issued statements telling frightened residents not to believe the rumor that the mutilations are the work of a group of religious cultists roaming the hills at night, burning fires and wearing black robes and hoods.

A joint statement several days ago also reminded people that there has been no harm done humans.

Hoyd might agree he has not been harmed but he isn't sure someone didn't try.

If you would like this dog as your pet, you may pick him up at the Pickaway County Animal Shelter, or call 474-3741. The Pickaway County Humane Society reminds you that leaving your pet in a parked car during the hot summer months, even for a short period, can result in the death of the animal. Even if the windows are open, a parked car becomes unbearably hot in a very short time.

Volcano Eruption Set On Guadeloupe

POINTE-A-PITRE, Guadeloupe (AP) — The predicted big eruption of the Soufriere volcano may not occur for several days, a French scientist monitoring the volcano reported early today after thousands were evacuated from the danger zone.

The scientist, Charles Brousse of the University of Paris, said the warning Sunday that the blowoff was expected in 10 to 12 hours was given to insure that all 72,000 persons left the area around the 4,813-foot peak.

Broadcasting from a ship off the coast, Brousse warned that the eruption was "now an inexorable process; we have gone past the point of no return."

He predicted that it would have at least the force of the 1902 eruption of Mt. Pelee, on Martinique, which killed more than 30,000 people and destroyed the town of St. Pierre.

"However, we have cleared an area of sufficient size so that the eruption could be completely without loss of life," he said.

La Soufriere, French for the sulphur mine, last erupted in 1956, but there was no lava flow and no one was injured.

Five weeks ago, on July 8, a crack opened 1,500 feet below the cone and began belching foul gas, steam, ash, stones and mud. The activity intensified Thursday, and 30,000 persons living nearest were ordered to leave.

Then on Sunday the team of about 12 volcanologists keeping a close watch on the situation reported the presence in the vapor of ash from much deeper in the earth indicated an eruption was imminent.

Evacuation of the rest of the danger zone was ordered.

An observer who flew over the volcano Sunday reported: "I could see white smoke coming up from at least five different places, and even from the plane the smell of sulphur was very strong."

The narrow, two-lane highway running north to Pointe-A-Pitre, the island's biggest city, was jammed with cars and buses loaded with fleeing families and as much of their possessions as they could pile on.

Three ships took 6,000 persons from the town of BasseTerre, which is six miles from the peak of La Soufriere, to Pointe-A-Pitre.

Schools were opened in the city to house the evacuees.

Eye Hays Replacement

LISBON, Ohio (AP) — Democratic chairmen from throughout Ohio's 18th Congressional District meet here tonight to pick a replacement for embattled Rep. Wayne Hays, DOhio, on the November election ballot.

Hays withdrew his re-election bid late last week following weeks of controversy that started when Elizabeth Ray made her highly publicized allegation that she was on the Ohio congressman's payroll for serving as his mistress.

Speculation has it that Sen. Douglas Applegate, D-30 Steubenville, has the inside track to become Hays' replacement on the November ballot.

The speculation heightened Friday after Applegate withdrew as a candidate for re-election in the state's 30th senatorial district on the last day he could withdraw under Ohio law.

If Applegate, a member of the legislature for 15 years and a senator since 1968, is picked to run for Hays' seat, Democratic chairmen in the 30th District then would choose another candidate for the Senate.

CSI Patients Not Trained, Chaplain Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Too many former patients of Columbus State Institute are ending up on the wrong side of the law because they have been trained inadequately to live in the outside world, says the Rev. Ralph Karl, CSI's Catholic chaplain.

"We've got graduates in Mansfield (Reformatory). We've got graduates down in Lucasville (Southern Ohio Correctional Facility)," the chaplain said.

The mentally retarded patients are not being taught to read, write, cook, shop, do laundry, or manage money, he charged.

Supt. Robert Carl concedes there is a problem, blaming it on a lack of money, state laws, and unimaginative teachers. But, he says training is improving.

Father Karl said the institute's recent failures include a youth who was released without being taught how to manage money and "gave away $10 bills." Another former patient, a 23-year-old woman, left the institute without knowing how to read and write. She became a prostitute because she couldn't find a job, the Rev. Karl said.

Carl said about 220 patients have left the institute in the 11 months he has been superintendent. About 100 were released to community placement houses. Between 13 and 15 demanded to be freed and the rest were transferred to other state facilities.

City Policeman, Prisoner Injured

Circleville Police reported an incident that took place at 3 a.m. Sunday morning which resulted in injury to a prisoner and a Circleville Policeman.

According to the report, police were in the process of booking Donald E. Donaldson, Ashville, in connection with a bar fight which had taken place earlier that night. While police were completing paper work on his arrest, Donaldson attempted to escape by breaking loose from officers and running out of the police station, heading east on Franklin Street. Patrolman Ron Thompson gave chase and apprehended Donaldson at the intersection of Court and Franklin Streets.

Ptl. Thompson held Donaldson and escorted him back to police headquarters. When the two reached the swinging door leading into the police station, Ptl. Thompson pushed the door open with his foot. The door swung open and struck a person standing inside, causing the door to swing back abruptly toward Ptl. Thompson and Donaldson. The door struck both men, causing the glass to shatter, and both received lacerations.

Dispatcher Mark Hoffman took Ptl. Thompson and Donaldson to the Berger Hospital emergency room, where Donaldson refused treatment for a laceration to his left forearm. Ptl. Thompson received a laceration to his left hand that required eight stitches to close.

After refusing treatment, Donaldson was taken back to police headquarters and charged with assault and battery, escape, resisting, and three counts of menacing threats.

Rod Steiger Convalescing

MALIBU, Calif. (AP) — Oscar-winning actor Rod Steiger is convalescing at home after being released from a hospital where he underwent cardiac bypass surgery a week ago.

Steiger, 51, left Daniel Freeman Memorial hospital Sunday, 10 days after he checked in. Officials said he was making a rapid recovery.

Steiger won an Academy Award as best actor for his performance as a Southern sheriff in the film, "In the Heat of the Night." He starred recently as W.C. Fields in "W.C. Fields and Me."

Volcano Eruption Set On Guadeloupe

POINTE-A-PITRE, Guadeloupe (AP) — The predicted big eruption of the Soufriere volcano may not occur for several days, a French scientist monitoring the volcano reported early today after thousands were evacuated from the danger zone.

The scientist, Charles Brousse of the University of Paris, said the warning Sunday that the blowoff was expected in 10 to 12 hours was given to insure that all 72,000 persons left the area around the 4,813-foot peak.

Broadcasting from a ship off the coast, Brousse warned that the eruption was "now an inexorable process; we have gone past the point of no return."

He predicted that it would have at least the force of the 1902 eruption of Mt. Pelee, on Martinique, which killed more than 30,000 people and destroyed the town of St. Pierre.

"However, we have cleared an area of sufficient size so that the eruption could be completely without loss of life," he said.

La Soufriere, French for the sulphur mine, last erupted in 1956, but there was no lava flow and no one was injured.

Five weeks ago, on July 8, a crack opened 1,500 feet below the cone and began belching foul gas, steam, ash, stones and mud. The activity intensified Thursday, and 30,000 persons living nearest were ordered to leave. Then on Sunday the team of about 12 volcanologists keeping a close watch on the situation reported the presence in the vapor of ash from much deeper in the earth indicated an eruption was imminent.

Evacuation of the rest of the danger zone was ordered.

An observer who flew over the volcano Sunday reported: "I could see white smoke coming up from at least five different places, and even from the plane the smell of sulphur was very strong."

The narrow, two-lane highway running north to Pointe-A-Pitre, the island's biggest city, was jammed with cars and buses loaded with fleeing families and as much of their possessions as they could pile on.

Three ships took 6,000 persons from the town of BasseTerre, which is six miles from the peak of La Soufriere, to Pointe-A-Pitre.

Schools were opened in the city to house the evacuees.

Carter Stays Low

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — As Republicans fight over who will be their presidential nominee, Jimmy Carter plays the statesman, saying he won't comment on the GOP convention until it's over.

The posture seems to fit the low profile Carter has kept since winning the Democratic nomination last month. He has given some private interviews, brought in experts for briefings on defense, economics and foreign policy, played some softball and taken few trips outside Georgia.

Carter did manage to get in some digs at the Republicans during a speech at a weekend Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner in Charleston, W.Va. Carter told the 3,000 persons at the Democratic dinner that the Ford administration "governs by veto." He criticized vetoes against bills for public service jobs, a school lunch program and Vietnam veterans education.

"These vetoes don't help our nation's economy. They don't save money. They cause human suffering," he said.

Pot Backers Given Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — A "very normal looking" man visited the office of the National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws, pausing long enough to leave an anonymous cash donation — $10,000.

"It's one of the few real fine natural highs I've ever experienced," NORML director Keith Stroup said about the mysterious windfall of $10 and $20 bills.

According to Stroup, a short-haired man wearing a sports shirt and slacks and carrying a brief case entered the office Sunday morning to chat about the group's efforts to have the use of marijuana decriminalized.

Stroup left the room to find some NORML literature for the visitor, and returned to find him heading out the door.

"He gave me the note and said, 'Here, I made a contribution. It's in your attache,'" Stroup said.

The cryptic note said the donation came from something called the Confederation, described in the note as an association of marijuana dealers.

CSI Patients Not Trained, Chaplain Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Too many former patients of Columbus State Institute are ending up on the wrong side of the law because they have been trained inadequately to live in the outside world, says the Rev. Ralph Karl, CSI's Catholic chaplain. "We've got graduates in Mansfield (Reformatory). We've got graduates down in Lucasville (Southern Ohio Correctional Facility)," the chaplain said.

The mentally retarded patients are not being taught to read, write, cook, shop, do laundry, or manage money, he charged.

Supt. Robert Carl concedes there is a problem, blaming it on a lack of money, state laws, and unimaginative teachers. But, he says training is improving.

Father Karl said the institute's recent failures include a youth who was released without being taught how to manage money and "gave away $10 bills." Another former patient, a 23-year-old woman, left the institute without knowing how to read and write. She became a prostitute because she couldn't find a job, the Rev. Karl said.

Carl said about 220 patients have left the institute in the 11 months he has been superintendent. About 100 were released to community placement houses. Between 13 and 15 demanded to be freed and the rest were transferred to other state facilities.

City Policeman, Prisoner Injured

Circleville Police reported an incident that took place at 3 a.m. Sunday morning which resulted in injury to a prisoner and a Circleville Policeman.

According to the report, police were in the process of booking Donald E. Donaldson, Ashville, in connection with a bar fight which had taken place earlier that night. While police were completing paper work on his arrest, Donaldson attempted to escape by breaking loose from officers and running out of the police station, heading east on Franklin Street. Patrolman Ron Thompson gave chase and apprehended Donaldson at the intersection of Court and Franklin Streets.

Ptl. Thompson held Donaldson and escorted him back to police headquarters. When the two reached the swinging door leading into the police station, Ptl. Thompson pushed the door open with his foot. The door swung open and struck a person standing inside, causing the door to swing back abruptly toward Ptl. Thompson and Donaldson. The door struck both men, causing the glass to shatter, and both received lacerations.

Dispatcher Mark Hoffman took Ptl. Thompson and Donaldson to the Berger Hospital emergency room, where Donaldson refused treatment for a laceration to his left forearm. Ptl. Thompson received a laceration to his left hand that required eight stitches to close.

After refusing treatment, Donaldson was taken back to police headquarters and charged with assault and battery, escape, resisting, and three counts of menacing threats.

Rod Steiger Convalescing

MALIBU, Calif. (AP) — Oscar-winning actor Rod Steiger is convalescing at home after being released from a hospital where he underwent cardiac bypass surgery a week ago.

Steiger, 51, left Daniel Freeman Memorial hospital Sunday, 10 days after he checked in. Officials said he was making a rapid recovery.

Steiger won an Academy Award as best actor for his performance as a Southern sheriff in the film, "In the Heat of the Night." He starred recently as W.C. Fields in "W.C. Fields and Me."

Mets Blank Reds

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Jerry Koosman is starting to feel like Tom Seaver. In fact, he's starting to look like him.

A second fiddle to the threetime Cy Young winner over the years, the veteran left-hander has become the exclamation point of the New York Mets' pitching staff this season.

"Koosman is, I think, the best left-hander in the National League," said New York Manager Joe Frazier after the southpaw shut out the Cincinnati Reds 1-0 on five hits Sunday. "He is really tough right now. He has got it all together. He just wants the ball and wants to pitch. He said he could have gone another three innings."

Koosman, an exuberant 33-year-old who never has reached the prestigious 20-victory circle, is well on his way toward it this year.

Koosman added this postscript after improving his record to 15-7 and his earned run average to 3.02: "I never felt better. I was in command all the way."

In the other National League games, the San Francisco Giants whipped the Philadelphia Phillies 9-5; the San Diego Padres stopped the Montreal Expos 6-1; the Atlanta Braves edged the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2; the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Chicago Cubs 3-2 and the Pittsburgh Pirates took a doubleheader from the Houston Astros, 8-6 and 3-0.

Koosman struck out 11 and raised his season total to 138 while recording his second shutout of the year. The southpaw, winning his fourth straight game, has lost only once in his last 10 decisions.

Gary Nolan, 10-8, was the losing pitcher for the Reds, who were beaten for only the 11th time in their last 41 games. New York has won nine of its last 12 games and finished the season with a 6-6 record against Cincinnati.

Giants 9, Phils 5

Darrell Evans belted his 10th and 11th home runs of the year, the latter a three-run shot in the top of the ninth inning, to power San Francisco over

Philadelphia. Evans' homer capped a five-run rally that brought the Giants back from a 5-4 deficit. His solo blast in the sixth had given the Giants a 4-3 lead but Greg Luzinski's tworun shot in the eighth, his 17th homer, put the Phillies ahead.

Padres 6, Expos 1

Two-run singles by Willie Davis and Ted Kubiak highlighted a five-run sixth inning and carried San Diego over Montreal. Montreal starter Don Carrithers, who had given up just one hit through the first five innings, surrendered the San Diego runs. Tom Griffin scattered six hits to improve his record to 7-4.

Braves 3, Cardinals 2

Phil Niekro hurled a six-hitter and knocked in a run in the second inning as Atlanta defeated St. Louis. Dave May and Rob Belloir opened the Braves' second with consecutive singles before Vic Correll walked, loading the bases with nobody out. Niekro 13-8, drilled a sacrifice fly to center, and moments later Belloir scored on a squeeze bunt single by Darrell Chaney.

The Braves scored their eventual winning run in the eighth inning when Rod Gilbreath tripled and scored on Tom Pacionek's sacrifice fly.

Dodgers 3, Cubs 2

Bill Bonham's costly balk led in a run and set up another in a three-run fourth inning which gave Los Angeles its victory over Chicago. With one out in the fourth, Bonham walked Bill Buckner and Steve Garvey. Ron Cey followed with a runcoring single before Bonham balked, allowing Garvey to score and putting Cey on second. Bill Russell followed with a run-scoring single.

Pirates 8-3, Astros 6-0

Ed Kirkpatrick's two-run double keyed a decisive fourrun rally in the ninth and reliever Kent Tekulve put down a Houston uprising in the bottom half of the inning as Pittsburgh whipped the Astros in the first game of their doubleheader. The Pirates won the second game behind Jerry Reuss' sixhitter.

JUMP BALL — World Champion Boston Celtics great John Havlicek, center. Rodney Wasserstrom, game chairman, left, and R. David Thomas, founder of Wendy's Old Fashioned Hamburgers, hold the "game ball" to be used in the upcoming Wendy's Charity Basketball Game that will feature the Boston Celtics and the Cleveland Cavaliers at St. John Arena on October 10 for the benefit of the Kidney Foundation of Central Ohio.

A's Nip Red Sox, 8-7

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

AP Sports Writer

Chuck Tanner has this recurring dream. Ten days ago it seemed like an impossible dream, but Tanner still claims that anything is possible.

"It's my dream to be in a World Series and I still think we're gonna do it," Oakland's optimistic manager insisted Sunday after his charging A's chipped away at a six-run deficit and scored two runs with two out in the ninth inning to nip the Boston Red Sox 8-7 for their ninth consecutive triumph.

"It was our biggest win of the season," Tanner said as the second-place A's remained seven games behind the Kansas City Royals in the American League West. Ten days ago they were 12 back and fading.

The Royals, meanwhile, whipped the Detroit Tigers 7-3. In the East Division, the frontrunning New York Yankees blew a four-run lead and had their five-game winning streak clipped by the Minnesota Twins 9-8. The Baltimore Orioles climbed within 9½ games of New York with a 3-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Elsewhere, the Cleveland Indians swept a doubleheader from the Texas Rangers 6-4, 3-0 and the Milwaukee Brewers downed the California Angels 5-3.

The A's, bidding for their sixth straight West Division crown, have become specialists in last-gasp impossible dreams. Sunday's ninth-inning rally marked the 16th time they have won a game in their last time at bat.

"I didn't think we had much chance when it was 6-0," said Don Baylor, whose pop fly double drove in the winning run.

Bill North's two-out, twostrike double ignited the winning rally. North scored the tying run on a single by Bert Campaneris, who raced home with the winner when Baylor's double eluded a desperate dive by Boston center fielder Fred Lynn.

Home runs by Dwight Evans and Lynn powered the Red Sox to a 6-0 lead after three innings and Rick Wise held the A's hitless until the fifth, when Joe Rudi singled and Sal Bando hit his 23rd home run to start the A's on the road back. Oakland added two runs in the sixth and two more in the eighth.

Royals 7, Tigers 3

Amos Otis clouted a two-run homer and Frank White drove in two runs with a pair of singles as Andy Hassler notched his second consecutive victory following a near-record 18-game losing streak. The Royals battered Dave Roberts for all their runs and 12 hits and nailed down the victory with three runs in the sixth as Buck Martinez and Fred Patek doubled and White singled, each knocking in a run.

Twins 9, Yankees 8

Rod Carew's RBI single capped a three-run eighth-inning rally after Roy Smalley tied the score with a two-out, two-run single off relief ace Sparky Lyle. The Twins, who trailed 8-4 after a five-run New York fifth highlighted by Chris Chambliss' three-run homer, began their comeback with a pair of runs in the seventh on a single by Smalley, a triple by Carew and a wild pitch.

Orioles 3, White Sox 0

Wayne Garland notched his 14th victory with a six-hitter while Baltimore scored all its runs via the long ball — Bobby Grich's solo homer in the first inning and Lee May's two-run shot in the third.

Indians 6-3, Rangers 4-0

Jim Bibby allowed only an infield single through seven innings and finished with a fourth shutout in the nightcap for his first complete game in almost a year. In the opener, Larvell Blanks and John Lowenstein drove in two runs apiece for Cleveland, offsetting Texas homers by Toby Harrah and Jeff Burroughs.

Rick Manning's leadoff double in the seventh inning ended a no-hit bid by Texas' Steve Hargan in the second game and moments later Buddy Bell delivered a two-run single.

Brewers 5, Angels 3

Bill Travers posted his 14th victory with help from Bill Castro, and Mike Hegan homered for Milwaukee. Darrell Porter doubled home a Milwaukee run in the first inning. Hegan homered in the fourth, Robin Yount singled, stole second and scored on Don Money's single in the sixth and Milwaukee made it 4-0 in the seventh on an error.

Bengals Bop Lions In Exhibition, 24-16

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati quarterback John Reaves, pushed to the background at Philadelphia with the arrival of high-priced Roman Gabriel, is finding new life in a backup role behind Ken Anderson.

"It's just a matter of getting your confidence" said Reaves Saturday night after coming off the bench to direct the unbeaten Bengals to a 24-16 National Football League preseason victory over the Detroit Lions.

Reaves, acquired a year ago, fired touchdown passes of 15 and 10 yards to first round draft choices Billy Brooks and Archie Griffin as the Bengals ran their record to 3-0.

The former University of Florida passing star took over when Anderson bruised a thigh late in the second quarter with Cincinnati leading 3-0. He promptly marched the Bengals 49 yards hitting Brooks for the touchdown.

Two weeks ago, Reaves took over for Anderson trailing Green Bay 14-3 at halftime and rallied the Bengals to a 23-17 victory.

Griffin, the two-time Heisman Trophy winner from Ohio State, led Cincinnati in rushing for the third straight week and won praise from Reaves.

"Archie just amazes me with the way he continues to run with the ball," said Reaves, who was 8-18 for 80 yards. "He picks his holes so well and eludes tackles."

Griffin played only the second half, rushing for 41 yards in 12 carries, but his first professional fumble—coming before his former Coach Woody Hayes—produced Detroit's first score.

Rookie James Hunter, the Lions No. 1 draft pick, scampered 52 yards with the fumble making the score 17-7.

The Bengals, after holding a 10-0 halftime lead, got an 86 yard kickoff return from rookie Danny Reece to open the second half. It was the first kickoff return of Reece's career although he ranked second in the nation last year at Southern Cal in punt returns.

Circleville Sets Physical Exams

Circleville High School Athletic Director Larry Cook reminds all junior and senior high school girl and boy athletes who are planning on participating in any sports program that they must have a physical examination from their family physician before they are eligible to participate in athletics.

This is an Ohio High School Athletic Association rule. No free physical examinations will be given this year as has been previously done in the past.

Students for whom this physical presents a financial hardship should contact Larry Cook at Circleville High School Athletic office, 474-7731.

Tiger Grid Tickets On Sale At School

Holders of Circleville High School season reserved tickets during the 1975 football season who wish to retain their seats in 1976 must contact Athletic Director Larry Cook at the high school athletic office, 474-7731, by Aug. 20.

Beginning Aug. 23 all remaining seats will go on sale on a first come-first served basis at the high school office from 8 a.m. until noon and 1 p.m. until 4 p.m.

Golfers Seek Firm Rain Rules

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — Pro golfers raised a clamor for a firm rain policy as the 58th PGA Championship went into a fifth-day overtime today with former Masters champion Charles Coody holding a twostroke lead over Jack Nicklaus and the unsung golfing optometrist, Dr. Gil Morgan.

"I have always thought that once a guy hits a shot in a tournament, that shot should count no matter what the circumstances," insisted the 39-year-old Coody, whose two-day, rain-interrupted 67 for the third round put him in command position with a 207 — three under par.

"I always have felt that if there was just one man left on the course the entire round should be replayed," argued Arnold Palmer. "That is the purist's view, but I have to admit that television and other things have to be taken into account."

"I am not arguing either way," said Tom Weiskopf. "All I am saying is that we should have a firm policy. We shouldn't have to sit around and sweat it out. There shouldn't be arbitrary decisions varying with each tournament."

It is an argument that is bound to continue to boil — among golf officials, television brass and spectators as well as players — long after the $45,000 first prize in this tournament has been decided.

The Muskogee Club of the Southwestern League lost 38 straight games in 1923 under Manager Ray Brownlee.

Mets Blank Reds

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Jerry Koosman is starting to feel like Tom Seaver. In fact, he's starting to look like him.

A second fiddle to the threetime Cy Young winner over the years, the veteran left-hander has become the exclamation point of the New York Mets' pitching staff this season.

"Koosman is, I think, the best left-hander in the National League," said New York Manager Joe Frazier after the southpaw shut out the Cincinnati Reds 1-0 on five hits Sunday. "He is really tough right now. He has got it all together. He just wants the ball and wants to pitch. He said he could have gone another three innings."

Koosman, an exuberant 33-year-old who never has reached the prestigious 20-victory circle, is well on his way toward it this year.

Koosman added this postscript after improving his record to 15-7 and his earned run average to 3.02: "I never felt better. I was in command all the way."

In the other National League games, the San Francisco Giants whipped the Philadelphia Phillies 9-5; the San Diego Padres stopped the Montreal Expos 6-1; the Atlanta Braves edged the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2; the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Chicago Cubs 3-2 and the Pittsburgh Pirates took a doubleheader from the Houston Astros, 8-6 and 3-0.

Koosman struck out 11 and raised his season total to 138 while recording his second shutout of the year. The southpaw, winning his fourth straight game, has lost only once in his last 10 decisions.

Gary Nolan, 10-8, was the losing pitcher for the Reds, who were beaten for only the 11th time in their last 41 games. New York has won nine of its last 12 games and finished the season with a 6-6 record against Cincinnati.

Giants 9, Phils 5

Darrell Evans belted his 10th and 11th home runs of the year, the latter a three-run shot in the top of the ninth inning, to power San Francisco over

Philadelphia. Evans' homer capped a five-run rally that brought the Giants back from a 5-4 deficit. His solo blast in the sixth had given the Giants a 4-3 lead but Greg Luzinski's two-run shot in the eighth, his 17th homer, put the Phillies ahead.

Padres 6, Expos 1

Two-run singles by Willie Davis and Ted Kubiak highlighted a five-run sixth inning and carried San Diego over Montreal. Montreal starter Don Carrithers, who had given up just one hit through the first five innings, surrendered the San Diego runs. Tom Griffin scattered six hits to improve his record to 7-4.

Braves 3, Cardinals 2

Phil Niekro hurled a six-hitter and knocked in a run in the second inning as Atlanta defeated St. Louis. Dave May and Rob Belloir opened the Braves' second with consecutive singles before Vic Correll walked, loading the bases with nobody out. Niekro 13-8, drilled a sacrifice fly to center, and moments later Belloir scored on a squeeze bunt single by Darrel Chaney.

The Braves scored their eventual winning run in the eighth inning when Rod Gilbreath tripled and scored on Tom Paciorek's sacrifice fly.

Dodgers 3, Cubs 2

Bill Bonham's costly balk let in a run and set up another in a three-run fourth inning which gave Los Angeles its victory over Chicago. With one out in the fourth, Bonham walked Bill Buckner and Steve Garvey. Ron Cey followed with a runscoring single before Bonham balked, allowing Garvey to score and putting Cey on second. Bill Russell followed with a run-scoring single.

Pirates 8-3, Astros 6-0

Ed Kirkpatrick's two-run double keyed a decisive four-run rally in the ninth and reliever Kent Tekulve put down a Houston uprising in the bottom half of the inning as Pittsburgh whipped the Astros in the first game of their doubleheader. The Pirates won the second game behind Jerry Reuss' sixhitter.

A's Nip Red Sox, 8-7

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer

Chuck Tanner has this recurring dream. Ten days ago it seemed like an impossible dream, but Tanner still claims that anything is possible.

"It's my dream to be in a World Series and I still think we're gonna do it," Oakland's optimistic manager insisted Sunday after his charging A's chipped away at a six-run deficit and scored two runs with two out in the ninth inning to nip the Boston Red Sox 8-7 for their ninth consecutive triumph.

"It was our biggest win of the season," Tanner said as the second-place A's remained seven games behind the Kansas City Royals in the American League West. Ten days ago they were 12 back and fading.

The Royals, meanwhile, whipped the Detroit Tigers 7-3. In the East Division, the frontrunning New York Yankees blew a four-run lead and had their five-game winning streak clipped by the Minnesota Twins 9-8. The Baltimore Orioles climbed within 9½ games of New York with a 3-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Elsewhere, the Cleveland Indians swept a doubleheader from the Texas Rangers 6-4, 3-0 and the Milwaukee Brewers downed the California Angels 5-3.

The A's, bidding for their sixth straight West Division crown, have become specialists in last-gasp impossible dreams. Sunday's ninth-inning rally marked the 16th time they have won a game in their last time at bat.

"I didn't think we had much chance when it was 6-0," said Don Baylor, whose pop fly double drove in the winning run.

Bill North's two-out, two-strike double ignited the winning rally. North scored the tying run on a single by Bert Campaneris, who raced home with the winner when Baylor's double eluded a desperate dive by Boston center fielder Fred Lynn.

Home runs by Dwight Evans and Lynn powered the Red Sox to a 6-0 lead after three innings and Rick Wise held the A's hitless until the fifth, when Joe Rudi singled and Sal Bando hit his 23rd home run to start the A's on the road back. Oakland added two runs in the sixth and two more in the eighth.

Royals 7, Tigers 3

Amos Otis clouted a two-run homer and Frank White drove in two runs with a pair of singles as Andy Hassler notched his second consecutive victory following a near-record 18-game losing streak. The Royals battered Dave Roberts for all their runs and 12 hits and nailed down the victory with three runs in the sixth as Buck Martinez and Fred Patek doubled and White singled, each knocking in a run.

Twins 9, Yankees 8

Rod Carew's RBI single capped a three-run eighth-inning rally after Roy Smalley tied the score with a two-out, two-run single off relief ace Sparky Lyle. The Twins, who trailed 8-4 after a five-run New York fifth highlighted by Chris Chambliss' three-run homer, began their comeback with a pair of runs in the seventh on a single by Smalley, a triple by Carew and a wild pitch.

Orioles 3, White Sox 0

Wayne Garland notched his 14th victory with a six-hitter while Baltimore scored all its runs via the long ball — Bobby Grich's solo homer in the first inning and Lee May's two-run shot in the third.

Indians 6-3, Rangers 4-0

Jim Bibby allowed only an infield single through seven innings and finished with a fourth shutout in the nightcap for his first complete game in almost a year. In the opener, Larvell Blanks and John Lowenstein drove in two runs apiece for Cleveland, offsetting Texas homers by Toby Harrah and Jeff Burroughs.

Rick Manning's leadoff double in the seventh inning ended a no-hit bid by Texas' Steve Hargan in the second game and moments later Buddy Bell delivered a two-run single.

Brewers 5, Angels 3

Bill Travers posted his 14th victory with help from Bill Castro, and Mike Hegan homered for Milwaukee. Darrell Porter doubled home a Milwaukee run in the first inning. Hegan homered in the fourth, Robin Yount singled, stole second and scored on Don Money's single in the sixth and Milwaukee made it 4-0 in the seventh on an error.

H & J Farms, Circleville In Finals

H & J Farms and the Circleville 10-Year-Old Stars both won a pair of games in the Pickaway Minor League Tournament and will meet for the championship 6 p.m. Tuesday.

H & J blanked the Ashville Stars, 19-0, and topped Salt Creek, 8-1, for its double win while Circleville downed Jackson Twp., 11-2, and upended Shady Acres, 21-3, for the twin victory.

Terry Collins hurled two-hit ball for H & J against Ashville in a game called after four innings due to the 15-run rule.

David Cooper, Terry Collins, David Webb, Russell Boldozer, Brad Smith and Richie Brown all had hits for H & J while Lemaster and Brady picked up Ashville's two hits.

Doug Pontius hurled the H & J win over Salt Creek while Swackhammer went the distance for Salt Creek.

David Webb, Doug Pontius, Terry Collins, Russell Boldozer, Brad Smith, David Cooper and Darrell Scott were the hitters for H & J while Welch, Whiteside and Swackhammer picked up the Salt Creek hits.

David DeLong and Alex Vandagriff pitched the Circleville win over Jackson Twp. while K. Wolfe and Hastings shared mound duties for Jackson.

Campbell, Hill, Meenach, Huffer, Baker, Roman, McConnell, DeLong, Kazmierczak and Elswick rapped hits for Circleville while S. Wolfe and R. Azbell each picked up a hit for Jackson.

Luke McConnell and Randy Huffer teamed up to hurl the Circleville victory over Shady Acres in a game called in the fifth inning due to the 15-run rule. Myers, Riddle, Bussard, Chattos and Scanlon all had a turn on the hill for Shady Acres.

Campbell, Meenach, Huffer, Baker, Justice, Roman, McConnell, Vandagriff and Elswick were the Circleville hitters while M. Scanlon picked up the two hits for Shady Acres.

Bengals Bop Lions In Exhibition, 24-16

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati quarterback John Reaves, pushed to the background at Philadelphia with the arrival of high-priced Roman Gabriel, is finding new life in a backup role behind Ken Anderson.

"It's just a matter of getting your confidence," said Reaves Saturday night after coming off the bench to direct the unbeaten Bengals to a 24-16 National Football League preseason victory over the Detroit Lions.

Reaves, acquired a year ago, fired touchdown passes of 15 and 10 yards to first round draft choices Billy Brooks and Archie Griffin as the Bengals ran their record to 3-0.

The former University of Florida passing star took over when Anderson bruised a thigh late in the second quarter with Cincinnati leading 3-0. He promptly marched the Bengals 49 yards hitting Brooks for the touchdown.

Two weeks ago, Reaves took over for Anderson trailing Green Bay 14-3 at halftime and rallied the Bengals to a 23-17 victory.

Griffin, the two-time Heisman Trophy winner from Ohio State, led Cincinnati in rushing for the third straight week and won praise from Reaves.

"Archie just amazes me with the way he continues to run with the ball," said Reaves, who was 8-18 for 80 yards. "He picks his holes so well and eludes tackles."

Griffin played only the second half, rushing for 41 yards in 12 carries, but his first professional fumble—coming before his former Coach Woody Hayes—produced Detroit's first score.

Rookie James Hunter, the Lions No. 1 draft pick, scampered 52 yards with the fumble making the score 17-7. The Bengals, after holding a 10-0 halftime lead, got an 86 yard kickoff return from rookie Danny Reece to open the second half. It was the first kickoff return of Reece's career although he ranked second in the nation last year at Southern Cal in punt returns.

Circleville Sets Physical Exams

Circleville High School Athletic Director Larry Cook reminds all junior and senior high school girl and boy athletes who are planning on participating in any sports program that they must have a physical examination from their family physician before they are eligible to participate in athletics.

This is an Ohio High School Athletic Association rule. No free physical examinations will be given this year as has been previously done in the past.

Students for whom this physical presents a financial hardship should contact Larry Cook at Circleville High School Athletic office, 474-7731.

Tiger Grid Tickets On Sale At School

Holders of Circleville High School season reserved tickets during the 1975 football season who wish to retain their seats in 1976 must contact Athletic Director Larry Cook at the high school athletic office, 474-7731, by Aug. 20.

Beginning Aug. 23 all remaining seats will go on sale on a first come-first served basis at the high school office from 8 a.m. until noon and 1 p.m. until 4 p.m.

49ers Turn Back Chiefs, 21-13

By HANK LOWENKRON
AP Sports Writer

Jim Plunkett's homecoming was successful, but not spectacular.

And it was overshadowed by a stingy defense that frustrated the Kansas City Chiefs Sunday as San Francisco remained unbeaten in National Football League exhibition play with a 21-13 triumph.

Plunkett, who won the Heisman Trophy as a collegian at Stanford University, was making his debut at home with the 49ers. He directed a key touchdown drive in the final minutes, but completed only 10 of 21 passes for 67 yards.

"I'm just not real sharp yet," said Plunkett, who played the whole game after sitting out last week's 49er victory over Denver. "We won, but we are going to have to control the ball more."

Coach Monte Clark, unbeaten after three games as the new 49ers head

Johncock Wins Race

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — The fallout from the Republican National Convention already is being felt in New Jersey.

And if there were any uncommitted Republicans here at Sunday's Trenton Times 200 auto race, they are probably leaning now more toward President Ford than Ronald Reagan.

The reason is that the scheduled 4 p.m. start of the race, televised Sunday by CBS, was delayed 25 minutes while television cameras turned to Reagan's activities in Kansas City.

The unpopular result was that the finish of the race was rained out. If it had started on time, the race would have been finished well before a drop fell.

The decision by organizers to accede to CBS's to delay was not well received.

Gordon Johncock, who ran into some hard luck at Trenton Speedway last May, was flagged off as the winner when the race was stopped after 117 of the 134 scheduled laps around the 1.5-mile oval.

"Nobody likes a race that doesn't go the distance, least of all me," said Johncock, winner of the rain-shortened Indianapolis 500 in 1973. "But somebody has to win the race and it might as well be me."

coach, didn't mind Plunkett's lack of success. His defensive unit sacked Chiefs quarterbacks Mike Livingston and Mike Nott seven times for losses totalling 99 yards, and held the offense to a paltry 2.1 yards gained per play.

Running backs Del Williams, Sammy Johnson and rookie Paul Hofer did the scoring for the 49ers, all on the ground. The runs were part of a 268-yard rushing performance by the winners.

The Green Bay Packers used Chester Marcol's toe to defeat the New England Patriots 16-14 in Sunday's other exhibition game.

Saturday, the Tampa Bay Buccaneers were led by former 49er quarterback Steve Spurrier in recording their first NFL victory, a 17-3 decision over the winless Atlanta Falcons.

In other Saturday games, the New York Giants pounded Houston 30-14, Los Angeles edged Seattle 16-13, Denver knocked off Dallas 13-9, Chicago upended Baltimore 24-14, Pittsburgh overpowered Washington 27-7, Cincinnati nipped Detroit 24-16 and Miami topped Philadelphia 24-16.

Friday, Oakland routed the New York Jets 41-17 and New Orleans downed Buffalo, 21-14.

The action continued today with St. Louis playing San Diego in Tokyo and Minnesota at Cleveland.

The Chiefs, who have scored one touchdown from scrimmage in three games, threatened to overtake the 49ers in the second half when Larry Brunson returned a kickoff 99 yards to score and Jan Stenerud kicked his second field goal of the day to cut San Francisco's lead to 14-13.

But Hofer, a rookie running back from Mississippi, scored on a 47-yard run with two minutes left to put the game out of the Chiefs' reach.

Marcol, who missed all but the opening game last season because of a leg injury, booted field goals of 37, 36 and 32 yards in the first half to show

Coach Bart Starr that he doesn't have to worry about that phase of the game as Green Bay prepares for the upcoming season.

Spurrier, selected by the Buccaneers in the expansion draft, ran for one touchdown on a dive from the one and his passing sparked a 70-yard drive, capped by Essex Johnson's oneyard touchdown run.

The NFL's other expansion team, Seattle, scored twice in the final 10 minutes to press Los Angeles. Tom Dempsey's field goals of 36, 41 and 26 yards and quarterback James Harris' two-yard touchdown run gave the Rams an early lead.

John Clabaugh of the Tyler team in the East Texas League hit 62 home runs in 1926.

A disappointment in the 1976 Belmont was Play the Red. He finished sixth after running second in the Preakness three weeks previous.

Jane Blalock Golf Winner

WHEELING, W.Va. (AP) — Oglebay Park's Speidel golf course is one of the tougher stops for the nation's top lady pro golfers and this year the weather made the 6,400-yard par 72 course even tougher. But the pros didn't seem to mind it.

Jane Blalock came three shots off the pace Sunday to deadlock an equally fast-closing Pat Bradley and then win on the first hole of a sudden death playoff.

An early-morning downpour drenched the course.

"This course is one of the most competitive we play on all year," Miss Blalock said after she was presented with her $7,000 check. "The rain made the course play longer than usual but it made it play true."

Miss Blalock's winning oneover par total of 217 was the highest of the tournament's three-year history. Carole Jo Skala, the 1974 winner, and 1975 champion Susie McAllister posted winning totals of even-par 216.

Y Tennis Tourney Gets Underway

The Pickaway County YMCA tennis tournament will get underway 5:30 p.m. Tuesday on the Circleville High School courts. In case of rain all matches will be backed up one day.

Here is the schedule of matches:

Tuesday—5:30 p.m.—Farthing vs Beck; Weller vs Dietrich; Kohn vs Conner; Parsons vs Bennington; 6:30 p.m. — Benningtons vs Jarvis; Ballard vs Ancira; Campbell vs Sobatoka.

Wednesday—5:30 p.m. — Sobatoka-Pollack vs Jarowskiak-Ballard; Crawford-Williams vs Kirk-Pribble; McClelland-Dresbach vs Campbell-Ancira; Sparks-Childs vs Stone-Kohn; 6:30 p.m. — Dresbach vs Campbell or Sobatoka; Sparks vs Childs; Pollack vs Ballard of Ancira; Jarowskiak vs Williams.

Thursday—6:30 — Sobatoka vs Jarvis or Benningtons; Campbell-O'Brien vs Dresbach-Crist; Sparks-Radcliff vs Farthings; Pollacks vs Kirks.

Finals are scheduled for Aug. 21 and 22.

49ers Turn Back Chiefs, 21-13

By HANK LOWENKRON
AP Sports Writer
Jim Plunkett's homecoming was successful, but not spectacular. And it was overshadowed by a stingy defense that frustrated the Kansas City Chiefs Sunday as San Francisco remained unbeaten in National Football League exhibition play with a 21-13 triumph.

Plunkett, who won the Heisman Trophy as a collegian at Stanford University, was making his debut at home with the 49ers. He directed a key touchdown drive in the final minutes, but completed only 10 of 21 passes for 67 yards.

"I'm just not real sharp yet," said Plunkett, who played the whole game after sitting out last week's 49er victory over Denver. "We won, but we are going to have to control the ball more."

Coach Monte Clark, unbeaten after three games as the new 49ers head coach, didn't mind Plunkett's lack of success. His defensive unit sacked Chiefs quarterback Mike Livingston and Mike Nott seven times for losses totalling 99 yards, and held the offense to a paltry 2.1 yards gained per play.

Running backs Del Williams, Sammy Johnson and rookie Paul Hofer did the scoring for the 49ers, all on the ground. The runs were part of a 268-yard rushing performance by the winners.

The Green Bay Packers used Chester Marcol's toe to defeat the New England Patriots 16-14 in Sunday's other exhibition game.

Saturday, the Tampa Bay Buccaneers were led by former 49er quarterback Steve Spurrier in recording their first NFL victory, a 17-3 decision over the winless Atlanta Falcons.

In other Saturday games, the New York Giants pounded Houston 30-14. Los Angeles edged Seattle 16-13. Denver knocked off Dallas 13-9. Chicago upended Baltimore 24-14. Pittsburgh overpowered Washington 27-7. Cincinnati nipped Detroit 24-16 and Miami topped Philadelphia 24-16.

Friday, Oakland routed the New York Jets 41-17 and New Orleans downed Buffalo, 21-14.

The action continued today with St. Louis playing San Diego in Tokyo and Minnesota at Cleveland.

The Chiefs, who have scored one touchdown from scrimmage in three games, threatened to overtake the 49ers in the second half when Larry Brunson returned a kickoff 99 yards to score and Jan Stenerud kicked his second field goal of the day to cut San Francisco's lead to 14-13.

But Hofer, a rookie running back from Mississippi, scored on a 47-yard run with two minutes left to put the game out of the Chiefs' reach.

Marcol, who missed all but the opening game last season because of a leg injury, booted field goals of 37, 36 and 32 yards in the first half to show

Coach Bart Starr that he doesn't have to worry about that phase of the game as Green Bay prepares for the upcoming season.

Spurrier, selected by the Buccaneers in the expansion draft, ran for one touchdown on a dive from the one and his passing sparked a 70-yard drive, capped by Essex Johnson's oneyard touchdown run.

The NFL's other expansion team, Seattle, scored twice in the final 10 minutes to press Los Angeles. Tom Dempsey's field goals of 36, 41 and 26 yards and quarterback James Harris' two-yard touchdown run gave the Rams an early lead.

John Clabaugh of the Tyler team in the East Texas League hit 62 home runs in 1926.

A disappointment in the 1976 Belmont was Play the Red. He finished sixth after running second in the Preakness three weeks previous.

Jane Blalock Golf Winner

WHEELING, W.Va. (AP) — Oglebay Park's Speidel golf course is one of the tougher stops for the nation's top lady pro golfers and this year the weather made the 6,400-yard par 72 course even tougher. But the pros didn't seem to mind it.

Jane Blalock came three shots off the pace Sunday to deadlock an equally fast-closing Pat Bradley and then win on the first hole of a sudden death playoff.

An early-morning downpour drenched the course.

"This course is one of the most competitive we play on all year," Miss Blalock said after she was presented with her $7,000 check. "The rain made the course play longer than usual but it made it play true."

Miss Blalock's winning oneover par total of 217 was the highest of the tournament's three-year history. Carole Jo Skala, the 1974 winner, and 1975 champion Susie McAllister posted winning totals of even-par 216.

Y Tennis Tourney Gets Underway

The Pickaway County YMCA tennis tournament will get underway 5:30 p.m. Tuesday on the Circleville High School courts. In case of rain all matches will be backed up one day.

Here is the schedule of matches:

Tuesday—5:30 p.m.—Farthing vs Beck; Weller vs Dietrich; Kohn vs Conner; Parsons vs Bennington; 6:30 p.m. — Benningtons vs Jarvis; Ballard vs Ancira; Campbell vs Sobatoka.

Wednesday—5:30 p.m. — Sobatoka-Pollack vs Jarowskiak-Ballard; Crawford-Williams vs Kirk-Pribble; McClelland-Dresbach vs Campbell-Ancira; Sparks-Childs vs Stone-Kohn; 6:30 p.m. — Dresbach vs Campbell or Sobatoka; Sparks vs Childs; Pollack vs Ballard of Ancira; Jarowskiak vs Williams.

Thursday—6:30 — Sobatoka vs Jarvis or Benningtons; Campbell-O'Brien vs Dresbach-Crist; Sparks-Radcliff vs Farthings; Pollacks vs Kirks.

Finals are scheduled for Aug. 21 and 22.

Johncock Wins Race

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — The fallout from the Republican National Convention already is being felt in New Jersey.

And if there were any uncommitted Republicans here at Sunday's Trenton Times 200 auto race, they are probably leaning now more toward President Ford than Ronald Reagan.

The reason is that the scheduled 4 p.m. start of the race, televised Sunday by CBS, was delayed 25 minutes while television cameras turned to Reagan's activities in Kansas City.

The unpopular result was that the finish of the race was rained out. If it had started on time, the race would have been finished well before a drop fell.

The decision by organizers to accede to CBS's to delay was not well received.

Gordon Johncock, who ran into some hard luck at Trenton Speedway last May, was flagged off as the winner when the race was stopped after 117 of the 134 scheduled laps around the 1.5-mile oval.

"Nobody likes a race that doesn't go the distance, least of all me," said Johncock, winner of the rain-shortened Indianapolis 500 in 1973. "But somebody has to win the race and it might as well be me."

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. to Apr. 20): Your enthusiasm, competence and ability to formulate sound programs should help you to attain new ground now but, as you progress, give a little extra attention to domestic affairs.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): There's a tendency now to be too passive, to idle away time, drift along indifferently. Rouse yourself. Don't stall until external agents FORCE you to act.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): You will be expected to cope with some unforeseen situations now. Handle these bigger responsibilities willingly and without fretting. It will pay later.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Timing important now. Day calls for deliberation and well calculated action, but do not wait TOO long before making important decisions.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Don't abandon a project just because someone else may not be enthusiastic about it, but listen to their ideas anyway. There COULD be some angles you have overlooked.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Auspicious stellar influences stimulate your talents. Be ready to move forward with enthusiasm and hope. Written matters highly favored.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): While planetary influences are not inauspicious, there are a few areas where caution will be needed. Preparation for new ventures calls for especially careful consideration.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): This day calls for teamwork, perhaps some compromises but, in the long run, practical concessions will pay off.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): You should make fairly good headway in most endeavors, but don't go off on tangents or scatter energies. Either could offset best efforts.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Branch out to some extent. Realize your limitations, however, so you won't overreach your mark. Some complexities possible.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Curb emotions and a tendency toward eccentricity. Tighten reins on spending, but don't scrimp unwisely and lose out in the long run.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A splendid day for innovations and experimentation — always a pleasing challenge to the inventive Piscean. Don't hesitate to pioneer in new fields.

YOU BORN TODAY are extremely progressive and highly enthusiastic about life and people. Your personality is truly outgoing and your buoyancy is contagious. You have great pride and dignity, although you can indulge in extremes if off guard. Your talents are many and your gifts of salesmanship and leadership are outstanding. You love beauty, too, and if you do not take up art as a vocation, may take on one or the other avocationally. You have a lively imagination and anything you undertake has a touch of originality. Birthdate of: David Crockett, American frontiersman; Mae West, stage and screen star; Maureen O'Hara, film star.

For his service in the Black Hawk Indian War, Abraham Lincoln received land.

An experimental communications satellite, the 170 pound Telstar, was rocketed into space July 10, 1962.

Views On Television

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Well, that convention stuff starts again tonight. This time, it's the GOP congregation, meeting in Kansas City to nominate either President Ford or Ronald Reagan for president.

As with July's Democratic assembly in New York, CBS' Walter Cronkite, NBC's John Chancellor and David Brinkley, and ABC's Harry Reasoner and Howard K. Smith will materialize to mull matters for us multitudes.

As in July, CBS and NBC will show it live, gavel-to-gavel, starting at 7:30 p.m. EST tonight. ABC offers abbreviated taped and live coverage, plus entertainment, as has been its convention coverage since 1968.

ABC's look at the start of the Republican proceedings is scheduled to start at 7 p.m. EST. But its schedule also calls for 2½ hours of baseball, starting at 7:30 p.m., then a live and taped view of the opening GOP ceremonies back in Kansas City.

Tuesday's prime-time lineup for ABC calls for a "Happy Days" rerun and a "Captain and Tennille" special to precede the network's convention show at 9:30 p.m.

Wednesday night it'll start with two, yes, two episodes of a situation comedy, "Viva Valdez," then pick up the GOP at 9 a.m.

On Thursday, closing night, ABC's schedule calls for a repeat of "Welcome Back Kotter," followed by a summer sitcom called "What's Happening," followed by what's happening in Kansas City.

ABC will also provide quick GOP recaps between the entertainments and says it'll stop the entertainments altogether whenever it feels a breaking convention story requires live television coverage.

ABC calls its mixture of abbreviated convention coverage and entertainment an alternative form of viewing for a nation offered gavel-to-gavel convention coverage by the two other networks.

The mixture worked well during the week of the extraordinarily dull Democratic convention. Then, boosted by an audience of nearly 18.9 million homes watching its July 13 All-Star baseball coverage, ABC emerged No. 1 in the week's average ratings for nightly shows.

No such All-Star aid is afoot on this go-around. And it'll be interesting to see if more viewers are attracted to the CBS-NBC coverage of the Ford-Reagan battle than ABC's mixed bag of goodies.

Circleville Schools Staff Assignments Announced

Fritz F. Jacobs, superintendent of the Circleville City Schools, announced today that the certificated staff assignments have been completed for the opening of school on Aug. 30.

Jacobs also said that school will be in session a full day on that date.

The schools in the district are rapidly being prepared for the fall term with building renovations and general maintenance being on schedule and final arrangements being developed according to Jacobs.

School bus routes will follow the same general pattern as last year. Routes will be published later this month in The Herald.

Transportation is provided for students who live more than one and a half miles from the junior or senior high schools, measured by the shortest route, and one mile from the elementary school assigned by the shortest route. Students should not attempt to seek transportation unless meeting these established distances.

Additional positions established for this school year include a special education unit at the high school, an increase from seventh tenths to full-time speech and hearing therapist, and an additional remedial reading teacher for the elementary schools. The district now provided two full-time speech and hearing therapists.

Students new to the school system who have not yet registered, should do so as soon as possible.

Students in grades seven, eight and nine register at the junior high school and students in grades 10, 11, and 12 register at the high school.

All new elementary students must register at the superintendent's office located in the junior high building, 520 S. Court St., on the first floor.

A birth certificate and immunization record are required when registering kindergarten and first grade students. Students may be registered from 8 a.m. until noon and 1 p.m. until 4 p.m. daily, Monday through Friday.
